ADMIT KILLING TRANSIENT ON FREIGHT TRAIN

Judge Orders Both Placed In Solitary Confinement Each Year on Anniversary.

ESCAPE DEATH IN CHAIR

Court Accepts Plea of Guilty To 2nd Degre Murder From Gallaway, 21, Boy, 14.

Donald L. Gallaway, 21, of Shelby, and his companion, Gary Ames, 14, of Wilmington, Mass., began life terms in a Nebraska prison today for the murder of a fellow transient aboard a Union Pacific freight train 10 days ago.

Arraigned before District Judge B. O. Hostetler yesterday at Kearney, Neb., the pair pleaded guilty to a charge of second degree murder. They pleaded innocent to the first count in the indictment, charging murder for robbery.

Slaying 10 Days Ago.

Gallaway, a former steel worker, and his schoolboy companion, were accused of beating, fatally shooting and then mutilating the body of Edward J. Billings, Chicago, a fellow transient, aboard a train 10 days ago.

Judge Hostetler in passing sentence specified that both youths be placed in solitary confinement "on the day and hour you committed this crime each year."

Judge Fixes Penalty.

The youths escaped death in the electric chair when Judge Hostetler accepted the second degree plea, under which he was permitted to fix penalty without jury action.

Had he accepted a plea of guilty to first degree murder a jury would have had to been called to fix the penalty at either electrocution or life imprisonment

Gallaway and Ames were taken into custody at Sidney, Neb., by railroad authorities a few hours after Billing's body was found. It had been thrown along the railroad right-of-way east of Kearney.

The pair confessed to killing Billings, County Attorney Guy N Henninger said. Gallaway admitting that he shot the man, after which Ames robbed Billing's pockets of $1.26 and "then in a rage" mutilated the body with his knife when he found nothing more of value.

Gallaway's parents reside in Shelby. He has a wife and baby, believed to be living with his wife's parents in Crestline.

Intersectional Games Top Day's Gridiron Schedule

East meets west and south meets north today in seven important intersectional games heading a football program that will give a definite line on the strength and weaknesses of the various sectors involved in the Autumn battle.

The headline games in this intersectional warfare bring together Arkansas and Santa Clara, Fordham and Oregon, Pittsburgh and Southern Methodist, Syracuse and Michigan State, Michigan and Yale and Texas Christian and Marquette.

But what may turn out to be the battle of the day will bring together Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech. Ohio State is host to Chicago, while Purdue engages Wisconsin in the headline Big Ten clash.

The district high school bill is headed by the annual Mansfield-Shelby game in Shelby. The Whippets are undefeated and untied and boast of a perfect defensive record. A crowd of 8,000 was anticipated for the traditional tilt.

GETS LONG TERM

WPA Worker Admits He Drowned Child Under Faucet.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Raymond Swinscoe, 39, a WPA worker who admitted holding the head of his 4-year-old daughter under a kitchen faucet until she drowned, today faced a 30-year-to-life prison sentence.

The term is mandatory. Swinscoe interrupted his trial to plead guilty to second degree murder.

Dem Aces In City Today

ROBERT J. BULKLEY

CHARLES SAWYER

These two Democratic candidates, heading the party's ticket in Ohio, came into Mansfield today, to appear at a luncheon at 1 p. m. at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, and again at a major party rally at Democratic headquarters, West Fourth street. Both Sawyer, seeking the governorship, and Bulkley, seeking re-election as senator, have been conducting active campaigns.

Dems Greet Sawyer, Bulkley at 2 Rallies

Women From 2 Districts at Luncheon; County Meeting Tonight.

Democrats from 10 counties in the 8th and 17th congressional districts gathered in Mansfield today to hear Charles Sawyer, gubernatorial candidate, and U. S. Senator Robert J. Bulkley, candidate for re-election, address two major rallies here.

Both candidates were guests at a luncheon of approximately 300 Democratic women from the two districts at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 1 p. m. Mrs. Harriett B. Stuart of Bucyrus, 8th district central committeewoman was to preside at the meeting.

At 7:30 tonight Sawyer and Bulkley will be the principal speakers at a county-wide rally at the party's headquarters on West Fourth street after their return here from Mt. Vernon where they will speak late in the afternoon.

G. O. P. Maps Final Drive, Dinner Wednesday Next Session.

While the Republican campaign in Richland county was in a lull today as party leaders mapped a final drive before election, John D. M. Hamilton, the Republican national chairman, said in a talk at Cleveland that "sound economic recovery depends on a Republican victory in November."

With no meeting scheduled until next Wednesday night when the Republican Women's council will sponsor a dinner session at G. O. P. headquarters, county Republicans looked to the beginning of the last lap of their campaign late next week.

John Hess, central committee chairman, said party leaders were attempting to bring Thomas J. Herbert, candidate for attorney general, to Mansfield for a speech at a county-wide rally. All the other Republican candidates for state offices and Taft, the senatorial candidate, have appeared here at rallies.

Republicans will conduct meetings at Shelby next Friday night and at Plymouth the following night. A series of township meetings will get under way with a rally in Weller township Thursday night.

Making the last of a series of campaign addresses in behalf of the G. O. P. in Ohio, Hamilton asserted that "after you have elected Robert A. Taft and John W. Bricker you will see the biggest economic rise this country has ever seen. And I will come back here and eat those words if they are not true."

He added that the election outcome in Ohio will control the national outcome, "and the national outcome determines whether we are going to save the United States of America."

5 FOUND DEAD

Heaters Believed to Have Used Up Oxygen In Home.

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — (AP) — Five members of one family were found dead in their five-room flat today, and Deputy Police John J. Underwood said they died of lack of oxygen.

Underwood said Frank Cozzi, 31, and two daughters were found in one bedroom, and Nancy, 27, his wife, and another daughter were found in an adjoining bedroom. The children were aged 9, 8 and 3.

Underwood said ambulance physicians explained that the family died because a gas heater under a kitchen water boiler and two electric heaters in the flat had used up all the oxygen.

Ford To Call 35,000 Back To Work As Auto Plants Speed Up

(By United Press)

DETROIT—Henry Ford may call 35,000 men to jobs within a few days, bringing his huge plant to peak production and the automobile industry generally to its highest level of the year, trade observers said today.

About 50,000 men are at work now in Ford's River Rouge plant, according to Ward's automotive survey. With final assembly on 1939 models already started, it was believed Ford production would reach full stride next week. The plant operates with 85,000 workers in peak production periods.

New stimulants were being injected into the rising automobile industry. Leaders were confident that the industry, in the past a reliable barometer of general business conditions, again was setting the pace for general business recovery.

Last night the Chrysler corporation, which this week called back 34,000 employes to start work on 1939 models, announced salary increases for between 10,000 and 11,000 office workers receiving $300 a month of less. The increases are restoration of pay cuts made last March 16.

General Motors corporation earlier announced jobs for 35,000 more workers in its 69 factories and restoration of cuts for all salaried employes receiving less than $300 a month.

More than 2,000 men will return to their jobs next week at Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., in Toledo.

Shout, Ring Bells as Candidates Stage Third Debate

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI — Contributions of federal employes to Sen. Robert J. Bulkley's primary campaign fund were defended today by Bulkley against Robert A. Taft's charge that they constituted "flagrant violations of the corrupt practices act."

Taft, Republican opponent of Democrat Bulkley for Ohio's U. S. senatorship, fired the sensational charge in a press statement last night. Earlier an announcement from Washington said that the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures would consider three donations made to Bulkley's primary campaign by federal employes in Ohio.

In Third Debate.

"There is nothing new about that," shouted Bulkley over the hubbub raised by hecklers in an audience which heard him and Taft express widely divergent views last night on the government spending program in the third of their six debates before the Nov. 8 election.

"I know of no more legitimate source of campaign funds than from those men in the country's service who have been rewarded for party loyalty," Bulkley added.

Bulkley had been advised that Taft was prepared to read the statement concerning the contributions as part of the debate. Taft, however, cut short his talk and decided not to detail the charges after the shouting, booing, cheering crowd of 2,200 repeatedly interrupted both candidates. Some spectators rang bells.

Hits Fund 'Solicitation.'

The Taft statement said "Senator Bulkley's own primary report shows flagrant violations of the corrupt practices act" and "there can be little doubt that an organized solicitation of federal employes was undertaken by the senator." Bulkley had stated previ-

BENES ARRIVES

Former Czech President Takes Up Residence Near London.

LONDON—(AP)—Former President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia, flying for the first time, arrived today in the country which gained European peace at the expense of the republic of which he was co-founder. He landed at Croydon airport, sick and tired, and motored immediately to a country retreat where one of his intimates said he would rest for several months.

This statement was taken to mean the former president would not proceed to Chicago, where he will lecture at the University of Chicago, until after Christmas at least.

An intimate said he is in pretty bad shape physically and "what he needs is a few days in bed."

AUTHOR DIES

Edwards Gained Fame With Book 'Sons and Daughters'.

MACON, Ga. —(INS)— Harry Stillwell Edwards, noted Georgia author, died here early today of bronchial pneumonia. He was 83 years old.

Although he wrote many short stories, Edwards gained national fame with the book "Sons and Daughters." The author was rushed to a local hospital Tuesday suffered from bronchitis that developed swiftly into pneumonia.

AIR HERO KILLED

Russia's Bryandinsky Was Noted For Non-Stop Flight.

MOSCOW —(AP)— The army newspaper Red Star disclosed today the death in an air crash of Alexander Bryandinsky, who flew 4,300 miles non-stop from Moscow to Vladivostok last June 27-28 with Vladimir Kokkinaki.

Bryandinsky was regarded as one of the best navigators in the Soviet air force.

Bug In Ear 26 Years

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. —(AP) —Mrs. Lizzie Metcalf's ear—it plagued her for years — and doesn't ache any more.

Physicians said the bug was well preserved

SELLS $550,000 IN BONDS, THEN RUNS INTO SNAG

School Board Balks at Price Asked For Property Needed For Simpson Building.

After selling a $550,000 bond issue and awarding the contract for a $25,000 addition to Senior high school, the board of education ran into a snag last night when it negotiated for the purchase of two pieces of property needed for the new John Simpson junior high building.

The board conferred for two hours with Ephriam Brown, Mansfield, over a lot west of the Simpson building on West Fourth street, but failed to reach an agreement on the price. Another meeting has been planned for early next week in an effort to break the deadlock.

Set For Building Program.

Sale of the bonds to the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank and awarding of the contract for the Senior high addition set the stage for actual construction work on the city's million dollar school building program.

The bank, low bidder on the bonds, purchased the entire issue at 2¼ per cent interest, paying the board $1,275 in premiums.

R. S. Gibson, cashier of the bank, presented the board with a certified check for the entire amount of the bonds, plus the $1,275 premium. A PWA grant for $450,000 will provide the rest of the funds for the program.

Contract for the $25,000 Senior high school addition went to John W. Ness, Mansfield contractor, on his low bid of $20,572. Work must be started on the building by Oct. 31 to comply with requirements of the PWA.

In the same resolution awarding the building contract to Ness, the board let the plumbing and heating contract to Charles Hoffman and company, Mansfield, for $4,800 and the electrical equipment contract to the Richland Electric company for $1,295. Both supplementary contracts were awarded on low bids.

Sale of the bonds for 2¼ per

WEIGHS SPARKS CASE DECISION

Judge Takes Highway Ouster Hearing Under Advisement.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Common Pleas Judge Charles A. Leach today studied complete testimony in the suit of Harry A. Sparks, ousted highway department engineer, to regain his job. Leach indicated he would return an early decision.

Matthew Carr, personnel director of the highway division, was the last witness to testify.

He said that he and Highway Director John Jaster had considered firing Sparks as early as April, 1937, as an economy move. Sparks was discharged last March after he appeared before a senate investigating committee to testify that in his opinion the state was paying excessive prices for "hot mix" road material.

DOOMED TO DIE

Killer Who Fled Jail With Girl's Aid Convicted.

GREENSBORO, N. C.—(AP)—A superior court jury returned a death verdict today for James Godwin, High Point youth, who was charged with fatally shooting Donald Moss, a textile worker, a few hours after Godwin escaped from the Lexington jail Oct. 3, with the aid of the jailer's daughter.

The jury reported a first degree murder verdict, carrying a mandatory sentence of death in the state's gas chamber.

'Perfect' Husband Acquitted

Rudolph Sikora, the "perfect" husband, shown above consulting with one of his attorneys, Otto Baer, stood acquitted today of the murder of his love rival, Edward Solomon, with whom Sikora's wife had become infatuated. Sikora, whose wife testified against him at his trial, in Chicago, said he would not make efforts to win her back. Below is Mrs. Elizabeth Boehme, his wife's mother, who turned against her daughter and testified for Sikora.

Slayer of Wife's Lover Freed by 'Unwritten Law'

'Perfect' Husband Acted to Protect Sanctity of His Home, Jury Holds; Still Loves Wife, Accused Says.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO—Rudolph Sikora, 31, the "perfect" husband, acquitted of murder for killing the man who won his wife's love, indicated today he would make no attempt to win her back.

"I can never feel the same towards her again," he said, 'and I don't suppose she can feel the same toward me."

He said he still loves her. But she mourns Edward Solomon, 35, an accountant—the man Sikora shot and killed on a street corner last Aug. 22.

Deliberate 2 Hours.

A jury of 11 married men and a bachelor, after two hours' deliberation, agreed unanimously on one ballot last night that Sikora was not guilty by reason of temporary insanity at the time of the slaying. In effect, they agreed with defense contentions that he had acted within provisions of the "unwritten" law when he fired the fatal shots.

Russell F. Hornburg, the foreman, said he and his fellow jurors had felt Sikora was no criminal.

"He acted in a way that should protect the sanctity of the American home," he said.

Calmly, and in a matter-of-fact voice, Sikora's wife said she had first fallen in love with Solomon one day last March when he kissed her in the office where both worked

Her attitude and conception of true love even caused a break between her and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Boehme, who testified for her son-in-law

BACK IN CELL

Mansfielder Held at Marion After Jail Break.

Freedom was short lived for a 21-year-old Mansfield youth, who with two other prisoners jimmied their way out of the Marion county jail at Marion early today.

The fugitive, Earl Kennedy, South Park boulevard, facing the grand jury on a charge of auto theft, was recaptured at Caledonia, when he "thumbed" a ride with officers seeking the trio.

The other two still at liberty are Orville Rollison, 26, Columbus, and Roy Austin, 26, Marion, both held on burglary charges.

Marion County Sheriff Fred Miller said Rollison fashioned a key from a harmonica part and unlocked a "bull pen" door and then with the aid of the other two pried a heavy padlock from a door leading into the jail's residential quarters and all three fled through the kitchen door.

3 Boys Who Figured In Fatal Prank Land In Court, Warned

Three boy Halloweeners ranging in age from 11 to 13 years who confessed to police that they annoyed an aged Mansfield man which led to injuries causing his death, received a lecture when they were brought into probate court this morning and were sent home with a warning that a record would be kept of their appearance in court.

Police located the trio yesterday after John L. Burneson, 80, of 375 Marion avenue, died of shock and complications resulting from injuries suffered in a fall while chasing the boys from his front porch.

The boys told Judge Charles L. Anderson they had been at the Burneson home at least twice, and that on a previous occasion they had asked for a "hand-out" and had been told to come back some other night. It was to get the hand-out that they went back to the home, they said.

Miss Ruth Burneson, daughter of the victim of the Halloweeners declined to come into court this morning to prosecute the case against the boys. Her father will be buried Monday.

She told police that they had been repeatedly annoyed by Halloweeners, not only the night of the accident but a number of evenings before.

At least two of the boys had told their parents when they arrived home the night of Oct. 14, that an old man had fallen down when he attempted to chase them away.

Judge Anderson in lecturing the trio, commented on the custom that has developed in the last few years of Halloweeners asking for hand-outs, and which has developed this year into demands for money for "protection."

He said there was a question in his mind as to who was most to blame, the boys and girls or the people who give in to their demands.

HOUR SET FOR MASS BOMBING RAID ON CITY

LAND FORCES ADVANCE

Surrender of Canton Leads To Swift Offensive on War-Time Capital.

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI—Japanese were said today to have scheduled a mass bombing of Hankow to shatter the last resistance of that war-time Chinese capital, the fall of which invaders said was "virtually a matter of hours."

Authoritative sources said the air assault on Hankow was set for some time between midnight tonight and dawn, Sunday, and added that American and other foreign Yangtze river vessels had been warned to withdraw from the area.

No Warning Received.

U. S. naval authorities here said they had received no information on the reported warning and indicated that thus far no orders had been issued for the movement of the gunboats Guam and Luzon, stationed at Hankow.

Japanese forces stabbing at Hankow's outer defenses were pushing nearer to the city every hour.

Fall of Canton—Japanese announced the city was completely occupied—was said to have given impetus to the central China drive against Hankow and the adjoining cities of Hanyang and Wuchang.

A wholesale Chinese withdrawal was said to be under way from both the Canton area in South China and the central China Hankow region. Chinese were streaming northwest from occupied Canton, with Japanese controlling the area completely both on the ground and in the skies.

Kai-Shek in Hong Kong; Peace Rumored

HONGKONG —(U P)— Generalissimo Chaing Kai-Shek was said on high authority today to have arrived in Hongkong, probably to meet the British ampassador and discuss peace between China and Japan.

The military leader of all China was accompanied by his American-educated wife.

The British Ambassador, Sir A. Clark Kerr, has said that he had no intention of mediating in the war, but reliable reports were received yesterday of a joint British-German effort to persuade Japan and China to come to terms.

STERN MEASURE

France Punishes Workers Who Reject Defense Program.

PARIS—(INS)—Premier Edouard Daladier's cabinet, taking the first strong labor stand of any French government since formation of the now-slipping "popular front" leftist coalition in 1936, today determined on vigorous punitive action against recalcitrant employes in defense industries.

Determined to keep pace with the accelerated rearmament of her ideological ally, Britain, France decided on punishment of all workers and workers' organizations which refuse to put in the supplementary hours ordered in the interests of national defense.

While taking a stern attitude in the domestic crisis, the government also approved a series of important diplomatic changes in the light of the new international situation growing out of the four-power Munich accord on Czechoslovakia.

3 MEN HANGED

Hungarians Pay With Lives For Spy Activities.

BUDAPEST —(AP)— Three men charged with treason and spying were hanged today in the courtyard of the military prison.

Charges were brought against them several months ago and the Regent of Hungary, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, rejected their appeals for mercy on conviction.

HIS PIPE BLOWS UP

BEDFORD, Ind. —(UP)— Joe Cassaday's smoking pipe blew up last night. It tore out his gold tooth. He said he had packed his pipe with a handful of tobacco from his coat pocket and had accidentally slipped a .22 caliber bullet into the bowl with it.

GIVES SERMON AT DEDICATION IN CLEVELAND

Rev. Swoyer to Speak Sunday At Church Headed by Ex-Mansfielder.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, will be guest speaker Sunday morning at the dedication services for the new First English Lutheran church in Cleveland Heights.

Rev. Harold A. Sayles, a native of Mansfield, and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sayles, 460 West Fourth street, is pastor of the Cleveland congregation.

The church was built at a cost of $100,000. Construction was started on January, 1933, but was interrupted several months later during the banking crisis when a $60,000 building fund was frozen in a closed bank.

After remaining boarded up for three years, the church was partially completed and dedicated in 1936 with only the basement quarters in use. The church proper will be dedicated Sunday.

Rev. Swoyer will speak during the morning service at 10:15. In the evening an organ recital will be given by E. Arne Hovdesven of Wittenberg college, Springfield. A banquet to commemorate the occasion will be staged Thursday evening. Speaker for the event will be Dean Thomas Graham of Oberlin Theological school.

YOUNG PEOPLES PARTY

A Halloween party by the Junior Young People league of St. John's Evangelical church will head the list of activities planned by church organizations next week.

The party, a costume affair, will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the church basement. A meeting of St. John's Guild is scheduled for 2 p. m. Wednesday at the church, and the monthly meeting of the church board will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

GO TO ASHLAND

Senior Luther League to Be Guests at Halloween Party.

The Senior Luther League of the First Lutheran church will be guests of the Luther League of the Trinity Lutheran church, Ashland, at a Halloween party Monday evening. The Mansfield group will meet at the parish house at 7 p. m. and will go to Ashland in a body.

A meeting of the league will be held at 6:30 p. m. Sunday with "What Shall Our Standards Be?" as the subject for discussion.

STUDENT SINGS

Miss MacIntosh to be Soloist at First Congregational Church.

A vocal solo by Miss Kathleen MacIntosh, student at Senior high school, will be presented during the service at 10:45 a. m. Sunday at the First Congregational church.

Miss MacIntosh will sing as the offertory, "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod. Miss Louise Krause, organist, will play "Alegy" by Noble and "Angelus" by Kreckel, and the choir will sing "Trust In the Lord" by Spicker. Rev. Peter Young, pastor, will preach on the subject, "Each In His Own Tongue."

GREET BISHOP

Episcopal Members to Go to Mt. Vernon For Reception.

Rev. M. G. Nicola, rector of Grace Episcopal church, accompanied by members of the congregation, will attend a district conferent of the church and a reception for the Rt. Rev. Beverly D. Tucker, newly consecrated bishop of the diocese of Ohio Wednesday evening at St. Paul's church in Mt. Vernon.

A conference will precede the reception at which Rev. Walter F. Tunks of Akron will introduce Bishop Tucker to the delegates. Rev. Tunks also will explain the program of the field department of the church for the coming year.

Bishop Tucker, a native and lifelong resident of Virginia, was elevated to the office of bishop Sept. 27, and will make his first visit to this section of the state at the M. Vernon reception.

He is expected to come to Mansfield soon to conduct confirmation services at Grace Episcopal church.

SEND DELEGATES TO CONVENTION

5 Lutheran Churches to Be Represented at Mission Meeting.

Delegates from the Missionary societies of the five Mansfield Lutheran churches and those in this vicinity will go to Roseville Tuesday and Wednesday to attend the annual Central Conference Missionary convention.

Mrs. William F. Bolley and Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert will represent the St. Paul church society, while Mrs. A. O. Fonkalsrud, Mrs. W. L. Parkinson and Mrs. C. S. Izenour wil be delegates from St. Luke's church. Mrs. Izenour will speak in behalf of a new organization, the Children of the Church, and also represent the causes of the Missionary Bulletin in the state of which she is editor.

EIGHT BAPTIST GROUPS MEET

3 Halloween Parties Included Among Gatherings Set For Next Week.

Three Halloween parties are included among the eight meetings and activities scheduled for the various organizations of the Park Avenue Baptist church next week.

The Junior World Wide Guild, missionary organization, will hold a Halloween party at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the church for members of the intermediate and senior departments of the church school, and the Earnest Workers' class holds a Halloween party at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Franklin Bissman, Bigelow road. The party is open to both men and women. A Halloween party for the newly organized young peoples class will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday. The place has not been announced.

Other affairs scheduled are a party for the senior choir Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Frank, 138 West Third street; the monthly meeting of the C. H. Huston class at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the church; a meeting of Circle 1 at 1 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ray Hout, Ashland road; meeting of Circle 2 at 1 p. m. Thursday at home of Mrs. W. P. Booz, 191 Bowman street; a Circle 3 meeting at 2:30 p. m. Friday at home of Mrs. Charles Lake, 7 Mapledale.

A duet and anthem will be included in the service at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the church. The choir, directed by Walter S. Frank, will sing "O Thou, Thou Has Formed My Every Part," by Bach, and as the duet Mrs. Sherman Skaggs and Gladys Shingleton will sing "Speak to My Soul, Dear Jesus." Frank will play three organ selections, "The Lost Chord" by Sullivan; "Melody in F," by Rubinstein, and "Torchlight March," by Clark.

A Farmer's Diary

Autumn Trail.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WALKED along a winding, gravel road, and reveled in October's riot of color. Along the high east bank I saw crimson leaves on thorny blackberry stems among the sprays of misty blue and purple asters. The strong, hardy goldenrod was there, the grayish, withering tumbleweed. Tiny orange and red, split berries of bittersweet peeped brightly through the heavy weeded hedge.

An old worn fence wound between trees and heavy stones along the other roadside. I touched the steel gray, brittle lichens and the soft damp moss upon the aged rails. Some were split of locust logs, others of chestnut. They might have lain there on this very spot for 60 years or more.

Overshadowing all this wayside color, the giant forest trees —sugar maples, scarlet oaks, flaming gums — flaunted their labyrinth of varied shades. Shadows of the rugged trunks fell across the way like huge, black, bars.

The sun shone through the openings between the leaves and flecked the forest floor with the light and shade that seemed to dance and sparkle. Now and then, in silence, a leaf would leave its moorings high overhead and flutter uncertainly to the ground. I could feel the strange stillness close about me.

The autumn woodland fragrance rose like sweet incense. Patches of rich blue sky were framed between the overhanging leaves. I wished that I could hold and keep this glorious October trail, with its canopy of gorgeous leaves, and its wide, far-reaching stretches of autumn sky.

LEAD MEETING

2 Physicians Speak to Youth Forum Tomorrow.

The first in a series of social hygiene discussions will be held during the weekly meeting of the Community Christian Youth Forum at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

The discussion period, led by Dr. W. E. Wygant and Dr. D. D. Deeds, will be on "Inheritance." The worship service begins at 6:45 p. m. and the conference period at 7 p. m.

"Christianity in the Life of Modern Youth" is the general theme of the Youth Forum discussions. During the winter various phases of life, such as personal and social problems in relation to Christian teachers will be presented to the young people.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1938.

Drive carefully tomorrow—it'll be good practice for the time when ice and snow will make it even more important.

Dr. Eduard Benes is coming to America to lecture on "democratic institutions." Maybe he can tell us what has become of them.

When Henry Ford gets that "artificial milk" he talks about, will we have to milk a flivver, or just open a spigot on the instrument board?

She Heeded the Word.

THE death of Eleanor Thomas Jones removes from the Mansfield scene a woman whose epitaph well might be the single word "Inasmuch," for few persons have heeded the admonition of the Carpenter of Nazareth to a greater extent than she.

And it was "to the least of these" that she devoted her life and her small fortune with a determined singleness of purpose. While every person who came in contact with the founder of the Eleanor Thomas sanitarium sensed the humanitarian purpose behind her acts, it was the "small man" and his wife and children who knew best the sincerity of her charities and desire to serve her fellow men.

Into her hospital and into her private and personal charities—which were numbered in the hundreds—she poured a small fortune which she inherited as well as most of the years of her life. When the sick and the ailing came to her hospital she gave them far more than mere professional nursing and scientific care—she "mothered" them and made their personal problems her own.

Nor were her sympathies confined to the patients at the institution; medical men of the city can testify to her goodness and helpfulness when they started in their profession. In the last three years her hospital has been used as a nursing home and even though she herself was confined to bed most of that time, she managed to make her patients, which included a number of old persons, feel as though they were really at home.

Women like Mrs. Jones, or Eleanor Thomas as she was better known, not only enrich a community during the years of their activities, but they leave a lasting impression on the lives of the people who have been fortunate enough to know them, or to have benefited by their kindliness.

A Tragic Prank.

SOMEWHERE in Mansfield today are some boys and girls who must be somewhat shaken by the knowledge that what they undertook as a Halloween prank had indirectly caused the death of a man.

They didn't think, as they created a disturbance around the home of John L. Burneson, 80, a week ago, that their pranks would cause the elderly man to fall as he sought to disperse them, or that his fall would result a week later in his death.

But not many youngsters who set out to do some Halloweening think much about what the results may be. Despite campaigns to make Halloween celebrations harmless, a few still persist in activities that endanger life and limb—activities which, in this case, actually cost a man's life.

We hope we have not reached the point where we feel that youth has no right to have fun on Halloween. But certainly, no one has the right—in the Halloween season or at any other time—to jeopardize human life.

There's another audacious and preposterous consideration in this Halloween affair—in the report that youngsters have demanded from householders "protection" money to assure them purported safety from Halloween marauders.

Nothing could be more fantastic than to think that such "protection" lay within their power.

And nothing could be more repugnant than that boys and girls should adopt the tactics of the underworld under the guise of a Halloween prank, either in jest or seriously.

It is to be hoped that the prank that resulted so tragically for the Burneson family will temper Halloween pranks in the future.

Air Lines to the Rescue.

THE STORY of airplanes in the hurricane disaster a few weeks ago deserves wide telling. With highways and railroads blocked and communication lines down, the commercial air lines had a wonderful chance to show their stuff, and made the most of it.

First, they kept the mail moving. Regular first class mail was carried as air mail. The first two emergency trips between New York and Boston on Sept. 22 carried 5,300 and 4,500 pounds of mail. The total carried during the emergency was 272,000 pounds on that route alone. Fifteen-minute schedules were maintained. For a few days first-class mail was more rapid than the telegraph.

After the mail, they carried phenomenal loads of freight and passengers. One line reported 9,000 passengers in a period in which it would ordinarily have had only 800. Many of them were first-time flyers.

Much of the freight carried consisted of serums and other emergency supplies rushed into the stricken areas to prevent epidemic and care for the sick.

This fine job was done by pooling equipment and personnel and co-operating without petty rivalries. There can hardly be too much praise and gratitude for its accomplishment.

Phosphates For Peace.

A STUDENT of such matters tells us that exhaustion of phosphate from the soil, resulting in a shortage of phosphate in the human diet, produces biological unbalance in a nation. This is expressed in a high birth rate and a hysterical mentality. It is one of the things that make Germany, Italy and Japan the problems they are today. The phosphate is abundant in Scandinavian countries, where they take it chiefly from the sea. That is why their people are generally calm and level-headed.

This suggests a simple alternative to the rearmament race. Why not send great supplies of phosphates to the countries lacking them and persuade the hysterical peoples to eat them? Within a year or two they'd begin to calm down, and co-operate with, instead of antagonize, the rest of the world.

Keeping Step

—By PRESTON GROVER

(CIO is to meet Nov. 14 to form a permanent organization. That step is likely to increase the difficulty of halting labor's internal dispute. In his article, the second of three giving the background of that dispute, Preston Grover discusses sample AFL-CIO fights.)

* * *

WASHINGTON — A glance at sample cases of labor disputes will dispel any idea that a quick and easy peace can be reached between the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis's CIO.

President William Green of AFL concluded the Houston convention with an appeal for reconciliation with the major units of CIO in such tones as to indicate a resumption of negotiations was not far off. But a workable reconciliation evidently is yet a good way off.

The Pacific coast has felt the hottest of the conflict between the two labor organizations. From there come instances of the fruitless wars they have waged with each other. Take the lumber workers dispute in the Pacific northwest.

Sometime about Aug. 1, 1937, the woodworkers federation withdrew from the AFL and affiliated with the CIO. The resulting fight continued for more than five months and ended only in a sort of exhaustion — without truce or permanent basis of peace.

* * *

War in the Lumber Camps.

The AFL building trades unions of Portland and other northwest cities refused to handle lumber produced in mills with CIO agreements. In Portland, eight lumber mills employing 7,500 workers were closed. Lumber camp violence rivaled the days of the I. W. W. State, city and federal conciliation agencies intervened with only moderate success. Finally, last January, mill owners posted notices saying simply they would deal with a "committee of employes elected by a majority of said employes." Neither CIO nor AFL was mentioned. The two organizations had fought almost to a standstill, so peace ensued, without any formal declaration. It remains now in that tenuous state.

Again there is the experience of the Shepherd Steamship company. In the spring of 1937 this company signed an agreement with the sailors union of the Pacific, an AFL unit, which was to run until Sept. 30, 1938. Later the National Labor Relations board held an election and determined that the national maritime union, a CIO offiliate, was the proper bargaining agency for the employes of the company.

* * *

Shipping Tieup—Then Truce.

Last April 13, the company recruited a CIO crew as ordered by NLRB for the Wind Rush, sailing from New York. As a result, AFL seamen began picketing Pacifc coast ships from Seattle to San Pedro. The latter port, with 20,000 workers, closed. Longshoremen refused to invade picket lines. The employers' association threatened to close the port of Tacoma unless longshoremen returned to work and unloaded a cargo from the Shepherd vessel Timber Rush.

The longshoremen refused, the port of Tacoma was closed, and AFL seamen immediately embargoed all water freight destined to or from Tacoma and diverted to other ports. On May 7, five boats were tied up in Seattle. May 11, sailors and firemen on seven vessels in Portland struck, and that same day the AFL sailors' union of Seattle notified employers that no vessel would leave port on May 13 unless the port of Tacoma was opened and men would be called off all ships entering Seattle harbor.

On May 13, a 10-day truce was agreed upon, authorizing the Tacoma port to open. A conference was held in Washington and while nothing very definite was accomplished, the tong war was not renewed.

* * *

Laws Sought.

While such affairs brought no concrete settlement of inter-union fights, they had other effects. Hundreds of workmen and many locals, concerned over their loss of wages, began demanding an end of jurisdictional strife which threw them out of work.

And the three troubled Pacific coast states advanced legislative proposals, to be voted on next month, outlawing jurisdictional strikes, curbing sitdown strikes and picketing, and proposing restrictions on labor organizations such as the unions had not faced in many a year.

What It Means—

New Armament Plan For U. S.

—By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON — The central but unspoken theme of all the armament talk in high places through the Americas today is nothing more nor less than a streamlined Monroe Doctrine.

That means a Monroe doctrine operated by and for the doctrined—a western hemisphere set apart with a "No Trespassing" sign tacked on all shores jointly by the United States, the Latin American nations, and Canada.

Such a 1938 model of the Monroe doctrine is a far cry from the popular idea so long held in Latin America that Uncle Sam is a big bully of a fellow, a self-appointed policeman who goes around clubbing little nations.

Beginning with the post-war Coolidge term, such tactics became a thing of the past. Hoover followed the promising Coolidge pattern, and Roosevelt has carried it a step further with his "good neighbor" policy.

* * *

EUROPEAN TIES WEAKEN.

Meanwhile Latin America's language and cultural ties with Europe continued to dominate cultural life of the Latin American nations. German and Italian political ideas particularly wielded important influence.

But all along, there has been a growing tendency to regard the United States in a more friendly light. Brazil, especially, has gone out of the way to align her foreign policy with America's.

Experts say that disappointing trade arrangements with Germany and distrust of the European political balances have been mounting in South America, and that citizens of those countries are growing more and more democratic in their political ideas.

The experts feel that the deciding factor in America's favor did not develop until the peace of Munich was signed. It then became obvious that European nations had merely provided a breather to give themselves time to complete their fabulous armaments programs.

If ever a small nation needed a powerful friend, it needs one now. And in the United States, as the experts here see it, Latin American nations have one friend with no design on their territory.

It was natural, therefore, that President Roosevelt's recent talk of revising our defense plans should be interpreted to mean that we are planning a navy and army capable of defending the whole western hemisphere.

That would, in their view, also explain his reassurance to Canada that the United States would not stand idly by if she were attacked.

* * *

MAY MODERNIZE MONROE.

In the offing is an opportunity to express a 1938 model Monroe doctrine, say the experts. That is the Pan-American conference on Dec. 9. Before the delegates will be important evidence on which to base a declaration of principles.

Here is part of it:

1 The United States and other nations of the hemisphere are exchanging educators and students in a scheme to increase the cultural tie between nations of different language and background.

2 United States radio chains are now broadcasting special programs for South America.

3 The United States is conducting negotiations with Mexico in the all-important oil dispute without intemperate ultimatums or force, despite the great sums of money and property involved. To many Latins, that's proof of our sincerity, the experts argue.

4 Of the $6,700,000,000 invested abroad by citizens of the United States, some $5,500,000,000 — or three-fourths — is being risked in Canada, Newfoundland and the Latin nations below the Rio Grande.

5 Intra-American trade is on the upgrade and Europe's trade with the Latin American nations is going down steadily. Canada and the United States sell each other well over $300,000,000 worth of goods each year. We are shipping close to $600,000,000 worth of our products to Central and South America each year and the countries to the south are sending us nearly $700,000,000 worth of theirs.

To strengthen those elements of friendship, the United States is offering new fast passenger and cargo service to South America, and runs a complete air service around South America.

To safeguard those elements, there is the United States navy. That's why South American nations don't seem to mind when the president of the United States talks armaments. That's why they too are talking armaments.

It's one way of taking out insurance.

Injection Treatment For Varicose Veins.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Arteries are inclined to lose their elasticity with the advance of age.

The same thing is true, in a way, of the veins, the companion vessels of the arteries which return the blood to the heart. The vein wall may become chalky and weak, and the vein valves may break down. This is particularly likely to occur in the veins of the legs. The condition is called varicose veins.

It is commonly said that the veins of the legs become varicosed because the blood column there is longest and its weight breaks down the valves in the veins. It is also said that the condition is commonest in people who stand on their feet a great part of the day, such as clerks in stores.

Filled With Lime.

But it has been my observation that the varicose veins I have examined after removal by operation are quite stiff and filled with lime deposits. I am inclined to believe it is this change as much as the mechanical strain which brings on varicosities.

The condition is quite common. I should say that 40 per cent of those over 50 years of age have some amount of it. As for the occupational incidence among those who work on their feet, some of the worst cases I have ever seen have occurred in those who have been on their feet only at the rarest intervals and under the direst necessity.

The veins bring the blood back to the heart simply by the crowding of more blood from behind. There is no pump action from the heart to force the venous blood on. Therefore nature has provided valves so as to hold a column of blood until it is crowded upward. When these valves break down, the veins are swollen at that point and become tortuous.

Formerly the only measures of treatment available were wearing an elastic stocking and operation. In addition to those, there has now been developed the method of inpection which is a great boon to many patients.

"The principle of the injection methods," writes Dr. Otto Meyer, of New York, in the magazine Health and Wealth, "is to inject a non-poisonous solution into the varicose veins. This causes them to shrink (be obliterated). The inner wall of the vein swells all around, meets in the middle of the opening and grows completely together."

These treatments can be given in the doctor's office, and it has not been found necessary to rest after the treatment. The patient can go about the ordinary duties right away.

No general anaesthetic is required.

The length of time required for cure in a favorable case is about two to six months. There are no scars if the technique has been successful.

Altogether, in proper cases, it is a real boon on every count.

Looking Back Through the Years

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Oct. 22, 1918.

Unable to meet the nursing demands as influenza cases continued the Red Cross issued an appeal for volunteers to be emergency trained as nurses at General hospital.

Word was received that Sgt. Charles Orwig, son of Mrs. Harry Orwig, West Second street, had been wounded and was in a hospital in France.

E. Lee Spain, Mrs. Henry Klein and Sanford B. Parcell were among the five who died from the flu.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Living This Day.

Let's live today but for today,
Put fear of other hours away,
Put dread of future out of mind
And in today our pleasure find.

Let's live today, put into it
Our best, enjoy each single bit
Of joy that we can find and go
The happiest path our feet can know.

Let's live today, what future may
Present forget, speed on our way
Unmindful of past pain and grief,
Remembering life at best is brief.

TODAY IN HISTORY

October 22—The Metropolitan Opera House in New York City was opened on October 22, 1883.

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

A generation brought up on talk of "peace in our time" read war correspondence, this week, from:

* * *

War In the Far East.

Hankow is China's "Chicago," the country's greatest inland shipping point. Near there the first shot was fired in the 1911 revolution that made China a republic. There Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek set up his temporary capital when Nanking fell to the Japanese last December.

Hankow has been Japan's main military objective in China, since then, and this week the Nipponese commanders announced that the twilight hour of Chinese resistance was at hand. Two of Hankow's life-lines—the Yangtze river and the Hankow-Peiping railway—had been cut.

Japanese troops landed last week on the South China coast east of Canton. This week 2,000,000 refugees fled west and north before the advance on Canton itself. Yesterday the Japs took Canton.

* * *

War In the Near East.

Between 8,000 and 9,000 Jews in Palestine are U. S. citizens, and many Americans have asked Washington recently to urge Britain to stand by her wartime promise to the Jewish people of a national home in the Holy Land.

Secretary Hull assured them, this week, that the U. S. will "have an opportunity of considering the policy of the British government with respect to Palestine" before it is changed. A British commission now is investigating a suggestion made last year by another commission that the Holy Land be divided into three states, and Hull said Britain would make no decision until the new commission reports.

Pending that report, 20,000 British soldiers and policemen in Palestine launched a new armed drive this week against an estimated 10,000 Arab terrorists. Bombings and shooting continued, despite virtual martial law, and the dead since Oct. 1 were estimated at nearly 400.

* * *

War In the West.

Sixteen words were enough to tell the news from Spain one day this week:

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Oct. 17—(AP)—Fighting in Spain's civil war simmered today to scattered exchanges of shots on the Ebro front.

At Home

Arms and the Businessmen.

President Roosevelt said last week-end that America's defenses were being completely re-examined in the light of world conditions. His aides added, later, that these matters were being discussed:

1. Larger appropriations for the army.
2. Larger appropriations for the navy.
3. New techniques, especially for mass production of airplanes.
4. Methods of stimulating a billion dollars worth of private utilities construction to assure power to manufacturing centers in war time—and to spur economic recovery now.

Mr. Roosevelt's announcement followed conferences with Bernard Baruch, head of the World War Industries Board, who had just returned from Europe with this warning: "The threat to the United States from Germany is in South America, and is real and immediate."

Indications of an armistice between the New Deal and the power industry and rising auto employment increased their hopes for better business.

* * *

Catholics In New Orleans.

Catholics believe that during the mass the substance of the bread and wine are transformed into the body and blood of Christ, and the transformed bread and wine are the Eucharist. A Eucharistic congress is "an assembly of Catholics to glorify Christ through homage to His real presence in the Holy Eucharist."

To the eighth National Eucharistic Congress, at New Orleans this week, a famous Catholic and a famous non-Catholic sent messages—

Pope Pius XI: "Scarcely can we refrain from a tear when we behold the eternal majesty of God himself set aside and outraged, or with unspeakable wickedness, held up, as an enemy, to reviling and to execration. May we not discern, however, a promise of better things . . . ?"

President Roosevelt: "I doubt if there is any problem in the world today—social, political or economic—that would not find happy solution if approached in the spirit of the sermon on the mount."

* * *

Weather Report.

As a minor tropical hurricane kicked up waves in the Gulf of Mexico this week:

A heat wave over the eastern half of the U. S. turned the weather clock back to summer and broke records for October warmth.

Winter settled on Montana with a three-day snow and sleet storm that blocked roads and trapped mountaineering hunters.

Abroad

European Roundup.

As Europe continued, this week, to mop up after the four-power conference at Munich:

Germany announced that all reservists called to the colors during the Czech crisis would be returned to civilian life by Nov. 1. Nazi traveling men continued to drum up trade in central Europe.

Czechoslovakia asked Germany's advice before resuming negotiations on Hungary's demands for annexation of Hungarian-inhabited regions of Slovakia and Ruthenia.

Hungary doubled her armed strength to back up her demands on Czechoslovakia.

Rumania changed war ministers in what was said to be a move to speed up rearmament.

France established a virtual censorship over news broadcasts of the country's main privately owned radio stations.

Britain, after a further checkup of defense deficiencies shown by the September mobilization, planned further home-guard reforms.

* * *

Assassination's Aftermath.

Bulgaria has a minority problem, too—a million Macedonians who want an autonomous state for themselves and another million Macedonians living as minority groups in Greece and Yugoslavia.

Their political arm, an organization of extremists called the Imro, was outlawed in 1934. But Bulgarians believe it still operates underground, and they blamed it for last week's assassination of Army Chief Yordan Peyeff.

Sofia, the capital, therefore was put under virtual martial law for a day. About 3,000 suspected revolutionaries were tossed into jail. And the police announced they had nipped a plot against King Boris's government.

* * *

Buerckel vs. Catholics.

Stocky Joseph Buerckel, Hitler's clean-up man in Austria, told Vienna Nazis recently that Catholics had hoped to make political capital of the difficulties they expected Germany to have over Czechoslovakia.

With that hope dead, Buerckel announced these new anti-clerical measures: (1) Refusal to consider the reopening of Catholic schools for preparing youths for a priesthood; (2) cancellation of a proposed amnesty for Catholics under arrest for taking part in politics; (3) refusal to consider the release of Kurt Schuschnigg, deposed Austrian chancellor and a Catholic.

* * *

Fascists vs. Jews.

In Vienna, anti-Semites got so worked up while smashing the fronts of Jewish-owned stores, last week-end, that they also wrecked a store owned by the city.

In Berlin, Nazi officials listed only 175 Jewish lawyers, out of the country's 1,600 who will be allowed to practice after Dec. 1.

In Rome, a "small number" of Jews were arrested and accused of belonging to anti-Fascist cells in a "widespread plot" against the government.

* * *

People

First vs. Second.

Ruth Etting, a Nebraska farm girl who grew up to be a blues singer, has had two husbands. The first was Martin ("Col. Gimp") Snyder, 43, her former business manager, whom she married 18 years ago and divorced last November. The second is Myrl Alderman, 30, a radio musician, whom she married in Tijuana last July.

Alderman was in a hospital this week with a bullet in his stomach, following some gunplay in Miss Etting's Los Angeles home, and Snyder was in jail. Husband No. 2 said husband No. 1 tried to kidnap and murder him. No. 1 said No. 2 shot first.

Alderman's ex-wife (his second) sued Miss Etting for $150,000 love-theft damages.

* * *

Deportation Doings.

May an alien be deported for joining the Communist party? A U. S. law bars alien members of organizations advocating overthrow of the government by force. How about Communists?

The question arose in the case of Joseph G. Strecker, of Hot Springs, Ark. This week the Supreme Court agreed to review that case—big news because of its possible bearing on Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader.

The Dies committee recently heard he associated with Communists. He had denied membership in the party.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

EVENING CEREMONY PERFORMED FRIDAY

Miss Helen Emerson, Elmer H. Berger Exchange Vows at Altar of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church at 7 P. M.

THE STRAINS of nuptial music played by Miss Anna Klippel greeted guests at St. Matthew's Lutheran church Friday at 7 p. m. who had come to witness the marriage ceremony of Miss Helen E. Emerson and Elmer H. Berger. Rev. C. F. Sheriff read the service before the altar which was banked with palms and ferns.

Miss Emerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley F. Emerson, wore a sheer white crepe dress made with a full skirt, square neck, and short puffed sleeves. Her veil was the fingertip length, and she carried an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Rae L. Emerson, who wore teal blue satin. The gown was made similar to the bride's with a lacing of the front bodice with purple velvet ribbon. Her arm bouquet was composed of yellow and orchid chrysanthemums.

Lester C. Berger, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and William C. Huck was the usher.

During the ceremony Mrs. Emerson wore a rust outfit with brown accessories, and Mrs. Berger wore navy blue.

A reception for members of the families and friends followed the ceremony at the home of the bride. The couple then left on a wedding trip through the southern states. Mrs. Berger wore a beige wool dress and topcoat with dubonnet accessories. The couple will be at home at 244 Bartley avenue after Oct. 28.

The bride, who is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, was employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Berger, who also graduated from Mansfield high school and who is employed by Westinghouse, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Berger, 288 Harker street.

Among out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Simpson and daughters, and Mrs. M. P. Berger, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Lennox, of London, and Ralph W. Emerson, Carnegie, Pa., uncle of the bride.

Announce Future Meetings of New Nature Study Club

Announcement was made yesterday of two future meetings for the Mansfield Nature Study club. The first affair will be a hike tomorrow afternoon leaving from South park at 1:30 p. m. The group will go to Loudonville. The club meets the first Friday of each month at the Memorial building. The next session will be Nov. 4.

The club was organized early last fall by a small group of men and women interested in learning about the wild life, flowers, trees, plants and insects of this region. Members take hikes for outdoor study at frequent intervals, and since its organization more than 87 species of song birds have been recognized.

Membersship is open to any person over high school age and the dues are nominal, L. S. Barr, president of the group stated. Either Mr. Barr or Miss Evelyn Sonner, secretary, will supply additional information to persons interested in the club.

Mrs. Weller New Garden Club Head

Mrs. Emerson Weller will succeed Mrs. Howard N. Keene as president of the Astowela Garden club when that group resumes meetings in the spring. She was elected to office yesterday at the meeting which was held with Mrs. C. A. Sullens. Mrs. O. H. Schettler was the associate hostess.

"Winter Bouquet" was the title of the paper given by Mrs. W. T. Marquis. She also had specimens for exhibition.

Mrs. George Holland will be the new vice-president, and Mrs. Sullens will serve as secretary. Mrs. William Springer and Miss Catherine Doran were guests.

Mrs. W. E. Benninghoff, Cleveland, will be here Tuesday at 2 p. m. to present a review of "The Importance of Living" by Lin Yutang under the sponsorship of the Women's Association of the First Congregational church. Mrs. Paul W. Williams, chairman of the ticket sales committee, announced that although final reports have not been received from the committee, there has been a gratifying response to the planned program of three reviews.

The guest reviewer, who is associated with the Harvey Book shop, has appeared before a number of clubs throughout the state including several in the Greater Cleveland area. The other two reviews are scheduled for Nov. 22 and Feb. 15.

Mrs. Benninghoff will review "The Biography of Benjamin Franklin" by Van Doran for her second program. "Tickets for the series are still available from members of the committee," Mrs. Williams said.

Church Class Has Costume Party

There were 29 members and guests of the Esther class of the Mayflower Congregational church present at the home of Mrs. L. H. Edwards, 216 Rae avenue, yesterday for a costume party. Costume prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lial Ish and Mrs. Dan Edwards.

Mrs. Carl Stough was in charge of the business meeting and Mrs. John Hutzelman was accepted as a new member. J. R. Heilman showed pictures of his vacation trip to Canada, and a ghost story was given by Mrs. Estella Husung who was associate hostess.

Contest winners were Miss Grace Finical, Mrs. C. A. Cole, and Mrs. Imo Davis. Plans for a birthday party for those celebrating birthdays during the last four months of the year will be held at Miss Finical's home, 420 Springmill street, Oct. 27. The next regular meeting will be Nov. 18 at the home of Mrs. Mark Southward, 42 Howard street, with Mrs. Don Rudolph as associate hostess.

Suave Simplicity Marks Club Women's Styles

This clubwoman's frock of mossy black crepe is designed with a soft bodice and roomy sleeves which conceal arm faults. For bridge and an informal dinner later, it is given a bit of glitter with a gold metal brooch and bracelet set with simulated amethysts. Amethyst velvet ribbon trims the black felt hat with an uplift brim.

HEAR SPEAKER

Miss Ella King Vogel of Somerset, Pa., spoke at the Public Relations dinner of the Loudonville Business and Professional Women's club at the Zion Lutheran church, Friday evening. Her topic was "Conditions In Europe." The various phases of her topic were vividly related.

All during her address the speaker emphasized the change that had taken place in the beautiful cities such as Vienna, since Germany ruled over them. These cities were the home of all of our great composers, where they received their inspirations for the beautiful classic music handed down to generations. These cities are now cities of gloom—no smiles, no music and opera houses closed, she said.

Guests from out-of-town were from Mansfield, Millersburg and Ashland. Guests of honor included Mrs. Doris Williams and Minnie Loudon. County officials present were George Tugend, commissioner; Floyd Wicks, auditor and Guy Murray, representative to the general assembly.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, October 23.

Sunday's horoscope is a very propitious one, with every promise of attaining honors and the endorsement of superiors and those in high standing. These should be sought for promotion or preferment, but be discreet in writings, especially of an intimate nature, and guard against small loss.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very lively and important year, with matters moving at such high tension as to attract the attention and support of those in power and authority. These may be sought for promotion, favors or even their personal friendship.

A child born on this day may be talented, progressive and ambitious. It should not be backward in attracting its employers and superiors who will assist its career.

For Monday, October 24.

Monday's astrological forecast is for rather disturbing or unsettled conditions, which may cause a disagreeable uprooting, a relinquishing of plans or environs, or other events rather devastating and disappointing. Strange influences are noted, with documents, writings, speculative agreements or contracts holding importance.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which there may be surprising developments, with some disturbances and hazards to the fortunes and peace of mind.

A child born on this day may be clever and adventurous, but perhaps difficult to understand and impossible to manage, although it should have proclivities to intrigue, craft and expediency.

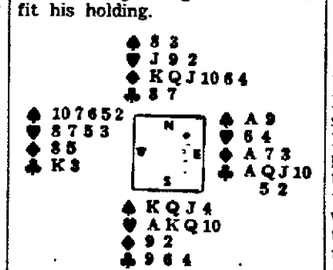
"The Authority on Authorities"

ASK FOR SUGGESTIONS

Don't be above asking your partner for advice. The successful defense may hinge upon what he holds. He knows and you don't. So if you can get him to say something about his cards by means of a signal, strive to give him a chance to extend it to you, instead of guessing at what will fit his holding.



(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

Bidding on this deal began with East's 1-Club South called 1-Spade. North 2-Diamonds. East 3-Clubs. South 3-Hearts, and everybody passed.

Acting upon his partner's bid, West led the club K. East properly overtook because of the singleton possibility and led the Q. His partner's 3 made it clear West held no more of the suit, as he would have played a middle one then instead of the bottom.

Thinking West might want leads through South's spades. East now laid down the A of that suit, receiving the discouraging 2. Deciding then to build a ruffing possibility he led the spade 9 to the K. Declarer now knocked out the diamond A and his contract was easy, no matter what East returned by ruffing a club, dropping trumps and running spades and a diamond.

Had East, after two club tricks, led a third, West would have discarded the diamond 8, declarer ruffing in dummy with the heart 2. Now follow through the various styles of play and you will see that declarer had no remaining way to prevent losing the setting tricks.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was no use trying to pretend that Avis Arlen was not in our suite. Mr. Milner had deduced that, I was sure, and while he could be kept from searching our apartment, there was no way in which I could get him away from the corridor while I sent Avis away.

Returns to Room.

It would be fatal to my plan, to permit Avis Arlen to guess anything of my perturbation. So, taking an iron grip upon my nerves, I walked back to Miss Whitlock's sitting room and took a position directly in front of the girl she was guarding.

"Just how good an actress are you, Avis?" I asked coolly.

"I don't think I'm good at all," she said, preening herself visibly, "but all my frieds insist that I ought to go on the stage."

"What does Mr. Veritzen think?"

"Uncle Phil?" she countered sweetly, patently sparring for time. Then her face lightened, and I knew that, in the vernacular of the small boys, she had "thought out of good one".

"Yes, Philip Veritzen," I countered.

"Oh! I wouldn't dare tell you what Uncle Phil has told me about it," she said coyly. "You know how angry he is if anybody hints anything about his plans."

"Yes, or interferes with them," I said with meaning, and noted with satisfaction that her eyes widened either with fright or a very good imitation of the emotion.

"But that is not pertinent to our present problem," I went on. "Just now, we have to plan how to get you back into the hall with a plausible excuse for your coming in here."

She looked up quickly, and I anticipated her next question. I never have failed to give her credit for a certain amount of cunning.

"That means Mr. Milner is in the hall watching this suite, doesn't it?" she asked.

"That is just exactly what it means," I said. "And kindly remember that if you say one word to Mr. Milner, other than the cues I shall give you, or act in any manner to make him suspicious of the real reason for your coming into this room, I shall immediately telephone Mr. Veritzen, as I threatened before."

Kallmerten-Baer Coals Tackle Canton Eleven Sunday

MANSFIELD'S Kallmerten & Baer Coals run what appears to be another load of trouble at 2:30 p. m. Sunday when they battle the R. & F. Furnitures of Canton at League park.

The Canton club comes to the city Sunday with a record that has not been marred by a single point. Canton's semi-pros have registered four straight victories against as many opponents without encountering a great deal of trouble.

Apparently, the toughest game the Cantontes faced this season came in the inaugural against Navarre. Canton eked out a 6 to 0 triumph.

The Furnitures walloped Barberton, 34 to 0, in their second appearance, and followed with a 38 to 0 triumph over Louisville. They whipped the Youngstown All-Stars, 20 to 0, last Sunday.

The Kallmerten & Baer team has worked hard for this game, and Coach Gip Miller expects the Coals to show considerable improvement.

Miller's eleven has yet to win its first game, and Sunday may see it come through if the progress displayed in workouts can be taken as a criterion.

Although defeated four times, the K-B team has not been badly beaten in any of the games. The margin of defeat in every defeat was a single touchdown.

The Canton lineup will consist of Di Menna and Willis, ends; Mann and Baroni, tackles; Miller and DiMinno, guards; Polumboa, center; Leper, Rothar, J. Biasella and E. Biasella, backs.

Mansfield will line up with Hummel and Mills, ends; Sturgeon and Gordon, tackles; Bucher and Zediker, guards; LaRue, center, and Weigand, Siler, Heiser and Hall, backs.

Rams Run Wild, Swamp Norwalk

Gene Harmon, Bill Wilkins Lead Touchdown Parade In 59-0 Rout.

By CHARLES MARTIN

MADISON high's touchdown machine manufactured points with little effort again last night under its floodlights to smother a weak Norwalk St. Paul eleven, 59 to 0, before a large crowd.

The powerful Rams unleashed a devastating running and passing attack that netted touchdowns in every period as they marked up their fifth victory of the season.

Turn Game Into Rout.

With Gene Harmon and Bill Wilkins pacing the attack, the green-uniformed gridders climaxed their scoring with 27 points in the final quarter to turn the contest into a complete rout.

Coach Al Fendrick's high-scoring combine, displaying brilliant blocking most of the time to allow its backs to run wild has scored a total of 248 points in six games to remain the high-scoring high school team in the state.

While the Rams were enjoying the field meet, Norwalk, relying on a passing attack which failed to function with any regularty couldn't do any damage, but once penetrated to the Rams' six yard stripe before giving up the ball on downs.

Outside of that threat St. Paul never moved inside the Madison 20.

Madison didn't wait long to get going. Bob Wilkins, whose play at center was a feature of the game, opened the fireworks by taking a lateral from Harmon on the Rams' first play of the melee and racing 45 yards for the score.

And then Bill Wilkins brought the fans to their feet when he dashed 77 yards, the longest run of the game, on an end around play.

Madison counted twice in the second stanza. The first on Harmon's 10-yard pass to Bill Wilkins in the end zone and again on Harmon's aerial to Bill Heichel from the 20.

Fendrick's proteges were unable to get going in the third chapter until Harmon tallied the first of his touchdowns on a 15-yard jaunt.

Going into the final period sporting a 32 to 0 lead, the Rams finally shifted into high gear. Harmon opened the scoring spree with a spectacular 51-yard gallop, and then snagged Heichel's pass from the 30 for his third touchdown.

Hardly had the fans settled back before Joe Miller plowed over center from the six, and Harmon supplied the finishing touch, slashing through tackle, this time from the five.

Miller added four extra points from placement and Bill Wilkins counted the other on a pass from Doug DeNero.

The Rams had two touchdowns called back. One on a penalty and another when DeNero stepped out of bounds on the Madison 40 after he had traveled 60 yards.

Reaches 109 Points.

Harmon's four touchdowns last night boosted his total for the season to 109 points, with Bill Wilkins trailing him in the scoring list with 82.

Madison registered 12 first downs to seven, and lost 45 yards on penalties while Norwalk lost five.

Butler High Beaten, 18-0 In Centerburg

Gun Costs Bulldogs Score In Fourth Quarter.

CENTERBURG — Butler high gridders of Richland county suffered their second defeat in four games here yesterday when they bowed to the powerful Centerburg touchdown machine, 18 to 0.

In holding the Centerburg team to three touchdowns, the visiting Bulldogs put up a gallant fight, and were denied a score by the final gun.

With Kenny Miller figuring in virtually all of the running and throwing, Butler advanced to the one-foot line. A touchdown appeared inevitable. Ward faded back and threw to Miller into the end zone for what appeared a score, but the officials ruled that it did not count as the game had ended before the play got underway.

The only other serious scoring threat was made by Coach Bob Burgett's men in the first period when they recovered a fumble in Centerburg territory. However, the Bulldogs were forced to give the ball up on downs.

Centerburg tallied twice in the second period and once in the fourth frame as it obtained only a 11 to 8 edge in first downs The hosts completed six out of 18 passes, with four being intercepted, and Butler made seven of its 26 throws good, two with the aid of interference penalties.

Fullback Suitor tallied the first Centerburg score on a plunge from the one. Tackle Doyle returned an intercepted pass 48 yards for the next touchdown.

Suitor bucked across to culminate a long drive for the only second half touchdown.

Red Birds Rip Danville, 32-0

Siegfried, Allerding Star In 32 to 0 Victory.

LOUDONVILLE—The Red Birds of Loudonville high tallied in every quarter here yesterday to wallop Danville high's Blue Devils, 32 to 0, before a small crowd.

Robert Siegfried and John Allerding led the touchdown parade which was climaxed with two markers in the third period. Loudonville capitalized on "breaks" for three of the scores.

Loudonville unleashed a 64-yard march for the opening marker in the first period with Siegfried tallying from the one. The Red Birds drove 35 yards for the second score with Siegfried again carrying the ball.

Three Danville fumbles resulted in as many touchdowns after the intermission, while a blocked punt recovered by Covert on Danville's five set the stage for the final score.

Danville's only serious threat came in the second period when it penetrated to the Loudonville three on passes. The Red Birds, however, stopped the Blue Devils cold to take the ball on downs. Near the end of the game a desperate 60-yard Danville pass carried it to the winners' 20, but Loudonville recovered the ball on a fumble.

Loudonville chalked up 11 first downs to Danville's four.

Play Skippies In Cleveland

Adams Bantams Face Another Tough Foe Sunday.

Adams' bantamweights got a good taste of first-class competition last Sunday when they opened their season with the DeLuce Bantams of Akron last Sunday.

Defeated 25 to 0 in their opener, the midgets are going right back against another tough foe.

Sunday Coach Harry Dandakis takes his bantamweights to Cleveland to meet the Skippies, who won the state championship last season. The Skippies have been defeated this season, but continue to rate with the stronger clubs in Ohio.

The only teams which have taken the measure of the Skippies this season are the Bismarcks and Harris Paints of Wooster, also future Mansfield foes.

Although Dandakis has made no official lineup announcement, it is expected that it will again include Bosko, Schwaner, Curnick, Moyer, Martin, Miller and Baije, linemen, and Siefert, Wise, Gloriosa and Hallabrin, backs.

Galion Hangs Up Sixth Straight

Defeats Mt. Vernon, 26 to 6, to Tie Shelby for N.C.O. League Lead.

MT. VERNON — Employing a tricky razzle-dazzle attack that completely bewildered their foe, the aerial-minded Galion Orangemen registered their sixth straight victory of the season here last night at the expense of the Mt. Vernon Yellow Jackets before 2,000 spectators by a 26 to 6 score.

Confining all of their scoring to the middle period, Coach Johnny Burnison's gridmen jumped into a tie with Shelby for the leadership in the N. C. O. conference.

There never was much question as to how the game would end as the visitors showed their superiority all the way. The Jackets never threatened seriously outside of the time they scored in the last period.

Galion hung up 12 first downs to five and accumulated a net total of 442 yards to only 98 for the hosts. The invaders completed 15 out of 22 passes in which laterals were used recklessly. The Jackets also did fairly well with their aerial game, completing seven out of 12.

Taking the punt on their 10, the Orangemen started a goalward drive in the first period, but were forced to relinquish the ball on the four. Galion tallied the first score early in the second period when Durtschi went over from the two on a sweep.

The Orangemen also took the following kickoff and converted it into a touchdown. It was registered on a pass from Corrodo to Secrist, who scored twice. Hocker added the point to give Galion a 13 to 0 lead at the half.

On the third play of the second half, Corrodo again threw to Secrist, who took the pigskin on the 30 and homped the rest of the way unmolested.

Schreck's interception of a pass set the stage for the final Galion score moments later. After a Corrodo-Ernst-Hocker forward-lateral had taken it to the five, the former plunged across the stripe.

With Substitute Nugent the sparkplug, the Jackets tallied early in the final period. Schlosser scored on a wide play from the four.

Marion Halts Ashland, 30-0

Presidents Score First Win Over A's Since 1928.

MARION — Marion Harding's Presidents registered their initial North Central Ohio conference victory of the season here last night by drubbing Ashland high, 30 to 0.

It was the first time Marion has defeated an Ashland eleven since 1928.

With Carlos Frazier pacing the attack, the Presidents pushed over tallies in every frame as they toppled the invaders with ease.

Frazier's 42-yard gallop in the opening frame set off the fireworks. He also added two other scores on short plunges. Frazier then rifled a 25-yard pass to Tom Jennings for another score, and Zeiler plunged two yards for the final touchdown. Marion was unable to convert a single point after touchdown.

Ashland, seeking its first NCO triumph in two starts, never seriously threatened the Presidents' goal line.

Kenton Easy For Bucyrus

BUCYRUS—The Bucyrus high Redmen registered their third straight home victory here last night by defeating Kenton, 33 to 0, under the lights before a fair-sized crowd.

Bucyrus started the scoring in the opening minutes of the game with a 61-yard march with Finney scoring on a plunge. He also added the point.

Finney gave the fans a thrill in the second stanza when he raced 40 yards after intercepting a forward pass. He was brought down on the six and Barciz went over on the first play.

Adams and Sauders added the other markers on short plunges in the second half.

Kenton drove to the Bucyrus eight yard stripe in the opening period, but lost the ball on downs. It never reached the Redmen's 20 after that.

Bellville Adds To Win Streak

Balliett Scores Thrice as Blue Jays Turn Back Sunbury, 26 to 6.

BELLVILLE — Coach Royd Hodges' Blue Jays of Bellville high school remained in the select undefeated class yesterday when they romped to a 26 to 6 victory over Sunbury on the home gridiron.

Idle last week because of a scarlet fever scare, Bellville's gridsters registered their fifth straight triumph without apparent exertion.

Runs Total to Nine.

Beryl Balliett was the indivual star for the Blue Jays, who never trailed after obtaining a 6 to 0 lead in the first period. The half ended with Bellville on top by a 19 to 6 count.

Balliett scored three times to run his touchdown total for the season to nine.

The fleet Bellville fullback tallied the first touchdown on a dive through tackle midway in the opening quarter from the 10 as his mates opened a big hole for him.

Later in the period, Quarterback Palm got off on a 50-yard ramble, and he was brought down from behind on the 20. However, the Blue Jays did not score again until the second frame.

Then Balliett again piled over the Sunbury line from the five for a score. Palm heaved to Martin for the point. Palm later went 15 yards for another Bellville touchdown.

The only touchdown registered by Sunbury came in the same quarter. It came on a short thrust through the line by Fullback Paul. The visitors never reached pay dirt again.

Sets Up Last Score.

Neither team scored in the third period, but Balliett's interception of Lane's pass set the stage for the fourth and final Bellville touchdown in the last quarter.

Balliett dashed across from the 15, and Palm again threw to Martin for the extra point. Bellville hung up 20 first downs to 10 for the team coached by Everett Whipkey, former Bellville mentor.

PLAN SERVICES

Salvation Army Observes 40th Anniversary Nov. 5-7.

Plans for four services next month to mark the 40th anniversary of Salvation Army activities in Mansfield were made at a meeting of the Army's program committee yesterday.

The observance will be held Nov. 5, 6 and 7. Services Saturday and Monday evenings, Nov. 5 and 7, will be at the Salvation Army building while on Sunday an afternoon service will be conducted in First Congregational church. In the evening the Salvation Army will unite with the First Lutheran church in an Armistice program.

The Army's program committee is comprised of George Smith, chairman, Mrs. John Pierce and R. M. Calene. Harry Hawley, chairman of the advisory board, was named chairman of the anniversary meetings.

RECEIVES $7,800 IN LIQUOR FEES

City Shares In State-Wide Distribution of Revenue.

The city of Mansfield today had received $7,848 in the third quarter state-wide distribution of liquor permit fees, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley announced. The allocation brings to $27,630 the amount received from this source since Jan. 1.

Kelley said the money will go into the city's general fund to bolster the running cash balance which is $4,400 overdrawn.

WESTINGHOUSE INCOME DROPS

Company Reports Net of $1,700,000 for Third Quarter.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company today reported a net income of $1,712,220 for a dividend of 63 cents a share on its common stock for the quarter ending Sept. 30, Associated Press dispatches from New York said.

This was a decrease of more than $3,000,000 reported for the corresponding period last year when the company showed a net profit of $5,394,743 for $2.01 a share. Income for the second period of 1938 was $2,469,372.

SCIENTIST TOPIC

'Probation After Death' Subject of Lesson Sermon Tomorrow.

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil" (Ecclesiastes 12:14)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (James 1:12).

CHAPTER 26

JUDY WOULD not have entered the dining room, after hearing the remark which Ronald Birrell had made to Abbey Boland, and Abbey's answer, but another guest, also an early riser, came along and addressed her in a cheerful voice which carried to the two at the table.

"Good morning, Miss Rogers! Some snow storm, isn't it?"

Judy had not known that the wind was blowing white sheets of snow around the house. Now she glanced out of the window and nodded.

Her mind tried to focus on snow, breakfast, light chatter. She must not think now of Ronald telling Abbey she would be sorry all her life if she did not "break" something. Of course, he must refer to Abbey's engagement to the count.

Ronald and Abbey greeted Judy and the guests with strained, polite faces. Their breakfast was nearly done.

Judy tried to drink some orange juice, gave up, and took a cup of black coffee.

Ronald was saying to Abbey, in a low voice:

"Think it over and call me when you decide, won't you? Better not do anything until you consult me."

Abbey nodded. Judy turned her head away coldly. When she said goodby to Ronald, her voice was frosty. She knew he did not notice. He had a favor of his own to ask.

"Judy, Abbey is worried. I don't think she should be annoyed with details of the party. Can you take them from her, do you think?"

* * *

The party to which Ronald referred was a Christmas Eve extravaganza which was scheduled for the next night. A sum of money was being spent which would have endowed a small college, or built a row of houses in a model town, it seemed to Judy. None of her friends ever had indulged in such an orgy of elaborate spending, and she loathed her part in it.

The guest list was long and names appeared on it which were written neatly in the Social Register. Even Craig and Mary had been invited. Probably because Mary knew the count, Judy guessed. That was the reason Marjorie was included, too, she surmised.

"There is nothing for Abbey to do. Everything is being attended to," Judy answered as quietly as any disinterested secretary might have done.

"Good, I knew she could count on you." He lowered his voice. "Judy, Abbey's upset. Try to understand, won't you?"

And so are you upset, Ronald. Judy commented silently. Don't try to hide it. I know. You want her. You—want—her!

They were as far apart as the two mythical poles—Abbey and this tall young man with the brave eyes, red hair, and stubborn chin. He came from the hills where a man was free, where his brawn and his muscle marked him. He had fought his way to the top, not minding hardship, with no apology for his humble beginnings. And Abbey—she was a hot house flower, whose father had come from some humble world, as Ronald had done. But Abbey did not talk of that. She had reached for glamor, prayed for a count. And now . . .

* * *

Abbey sought Judy a little later. Her face was so white, her eyes so circled that Judy relented. Maybe the girl did love Ronald. Maybe her heart had thrown off its silver and gold binding ribbons and she wanted to be honest. If this girl were sincere in her love, that was different. The count could be managed. Judy wished she might say that she understood and offer to help. Help—this—girl—win—Ronald! The thought made her a little ill.

Abbey came to the point.

"One of the maids is sick. Appendicitis, I think. Anyway, we are having her taken to the hospital for observation and care. Well need someone else, at least until she's better. Somebody to look after the guests tomorrow night, in the powder room, and be useful here and there. Could you call an agency and have a maid sent out?"

Such a trivial thing—a new maid—when your heart is breaking up—a new maid for the powder room. Almost as though she had read Judy's words, Abbey started to laugh. She couldn't stop. It was a frightening, hysterical sound. Judy ran to the bathroom for a glass of water from the ice water tap, but Abbey waved her away.

"I'm better now. It's the strain of everything. Oh, I wish I could run away and marry Phillippe tonight!"

"Phillippe?" The name slipped out.

"Of course, whom else would I marry?"

"Why don't you?"

"He likes the panoply and fanfare. Oh, I'll see it through. If there are any outside calls for me, will you say I'm not in, please, Miss Rogers?"

* * *

Judy telephoned to an employment office only to learn that due to the holiday rush no girls who qualified as maids were available.

She recalled the long rows of girls who had waited for jobs so recently and spoke more earnestly. "Why couldn't a secretary, a seamstress, somebody else come for a few weeks?"

"Sorry, we can't do that," came the answer, and the woman hung up.

The second agency could not help her, either. Judy's next idea was born from the emergency of the situation. She put in a call for the offices of Danceland. She would get the janitor again, at the morning hour. When she did, she said:

"I want the manager. It's imperative. May I have his number?"

"Say, lady, he'll hang up on you at this time of day."

"Never mind that. It's important."

"You won't say I told you?"

"I won't say anything."

He gave her the number and presently Judy had the man on the telephone. She asked him briskly for the name and telephone number of the hostess who had been photographed for newspaper use in the recent story which involved Judy Rogers.

"More publicity?" the man asked eagerly. "The files are at the office. I'll telephone the janitor to look it up for you. Her name's Myers, I think. Coralee, I guess it is."

Thus, on an early evening train, Coralee Myers came to the great estate. It had taken no coaxing to persuade her to give up her artificial glamor under the colored spotlight of the pleasure emporium for a Christmas in a millionaire's home. Her thin, eager face was shining when she arrived.

Judy explained the work to her, took her to her clean white room with its comfortable bed and private bath, gave her a printed schedule of meals and other activities.

"I wish I knew how to thank you for everything you've done for me," the girl said. "I don't, though. Maybe some day I can be kind to you."

"Is your home in New York, Coralee?" Judy asked.

"In New Jersey. You'd like my family." Her face shone.

"You all live together?"

"All but me. I have to stay in town and I send home most of my salary. My father's leg was broken last summer and it won't heal the way it should. That's why—that's why I danced for a living."

It was nearly Christmas. Almost time for families who lived, worked, sacrificed and laughed together to hang stockings and sing carols. At boarding school every year Judy and Marjorie had helped the gardener's wife prepare the simple gifts for her family. They had slipped away from the long gray school buildings, during their little girl years, and popped corn, trimmed trees, made fudge, heard the story of a star that shone over Bethlehem and the shepherds who were sore afraid.

* * *

Talking to Coralee Myers, the scenes came back to Judy. She and Marjorie had made a solemn oath that when they grew up they would never, never marry because people in their world didn't have homes and families that stayed together forever and forever. Not unless they were poor enough so they couldn't get divorces would they ever marry!

Judy smiled. Well, she was poor enough now. But there wasn't anyone to marry. She mustn't reminisce. She must help Abbey—get—her count. Abbey who didn't want a count at all.. . .

THEATERS

"You Can't Take It."

Two tremendous Broadway hits that have been picturized recently will be shown in Mansfield the first half of the week. One of them is "You Can't Take It With You," the George Kaufman-Moss Hart comedy. It is one of the "daffy" variety but with a gay philosophy which snaps its fingers at work. It has a 22-carat cast, headed by Lionel Barrymore as Grandpa Vanderhof. James Stewart and Jean Arthur give sanity and romance to the comedy. Others in the cast of this Ohio theater attraction are Edward Arnold, Ann Miller, Mischa Auer, Spring Byington and a dozen others.

* * *

"Room Service."

The second stage hit is "Room Service," opening at the Madison, the comedy which revolved largely around the effort of a theatrical producer and his aides to remain in a hotel room for five days without funds. Their efforts to eat and to keep out the sheriff provide a "natural" for the talents of the Marx Brothers who are stars of the picture. Groucho Marx is the producer. Chico, with his Italian dialect, and Harpo the Silent, are his aides. Lucille Ball and Ann Miller, and Frank Albertson, head the supporting cast.

* * *

"King Kong."

With a re-issue of a sensational picture of several years ago as its number one attraction and the first run of a new mystery film, the Park theater offers a diversified bill to its patrons the first half of the week. "King Kong," the story of the giant ape that ran amuck in a great city, with Fay Wray, Robert Armstrong and Bruce Cabot in the cast, is one feature, and "The Night Hawk" with Robert Armstrong and June Travis, is the second. This is a story revolving around efforts to smuggle an "iron lung" into San Francisco, of the death and bloodshed that resulted. It has a newspaper background.

* * *

"Fugitives For a Night."

The romance of a Hollywood "stooge" comes to the Majestic with the showing of "Fugitive For a Night," Sunday and Monday. Vivacious Eleanor Lynn and Adrienne Ames vie for the affections of Frank Albertson. But there is scandal and intrigue of the studio to lend color to the romance. The "stooge" wins a new position, as well as the girl, when he solves a studio murder mystery. The second film is "Flight to Fame" with Charles Farrell and Josephine Wells.

SHARK FEEDER

Park Superintendent Lets Fish Eat Out of Hand.

BOSTON — (INS) — Feeding sharks by hand is all in the days work for William J. O'Brien, superintendent of the Marine park aquarium.

O'Brien lets the aquarium three sharks eat from his hand and then gives the 75 pound fish a playful slap on the head by way of announcing the end of the meal.

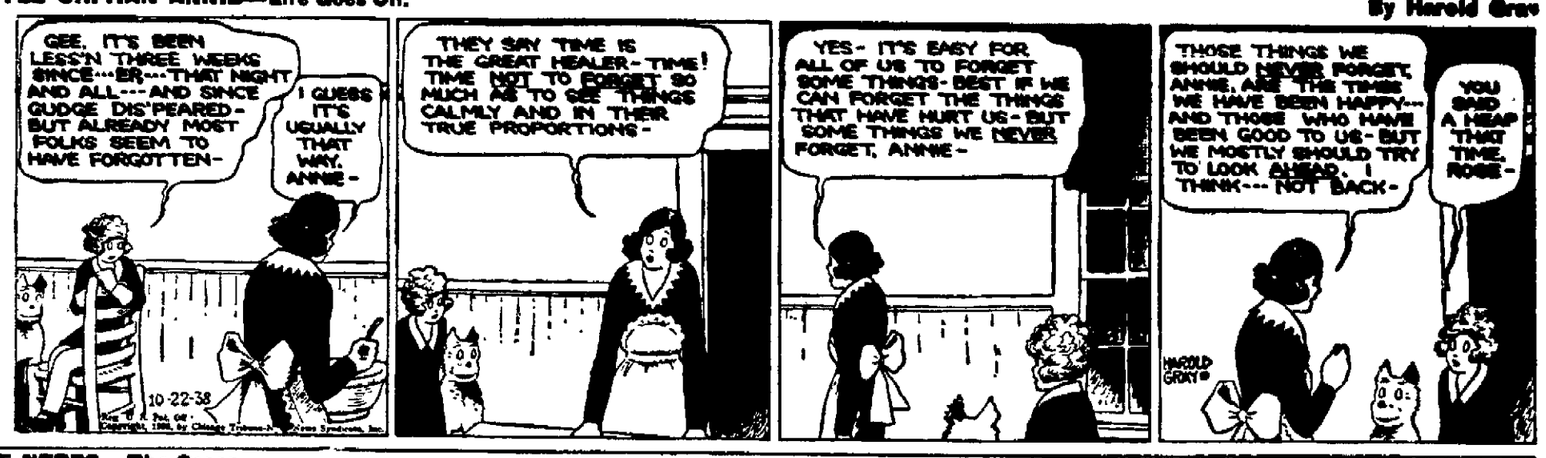
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Life Goes On. By Harold Gray



GEE, IT'S BEEN LESS'N THREE WEEKS SINCE---ER---THAT NIGHT AND ALL---AND SINCE GUDGE DIS'PEARED- BUT ALREADY MOST FOLKS SEEM TO HAVE FORGOTTEN-
I GUESS IT'S USUALLY THAT WAY, ANNIE-
10-22-38
THEY SAY TIME IS THE GREAT HEALER-TIME! TIME NOT TO FORGET SO MUCH AS TO SEE THINGS CALMLY AND IN THEIR TRUE PROPORTIONS-
YES- IT'S EASY FOR ALL OF US TO FORGET SOME THINGS- BEST IF WE CAN FORGET THE THINGS THAT HAVE HURT US- BUT SOME THINGS WE NEVER FORGET, ANNIE-
THOSE THINGS WE SHOULD NEVER FORGET, ANNIE, ARE THE TIMES WE HAVE BEEN HAPPY--- AND THOSE WHO HAVE BEEN GOOD TO US- BUT WE MOSTLY SHOULD TRY TO LOOK AHEAD, I THINK--- NOT BACK-
YOU SAID A MOUTHFUL THAT TIME, ROSE-

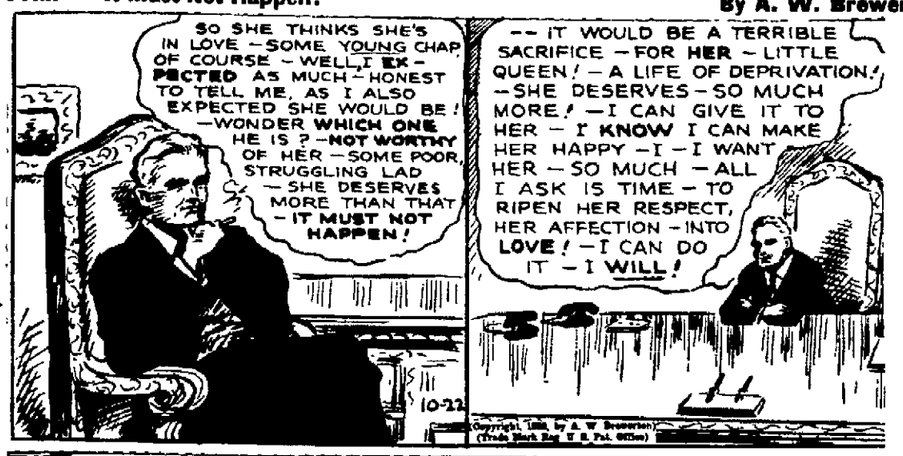
PAM—"It Must Not Happen!" By A. W. Brewerton



SO SHE THINKS SHE'S IN LOVE—SOME YOUNG CHAP OF COURSE—WELL, I EXPECTED AS MUCH—HONEST TO TELL ME, AS I ALSO EXPECTED SHE WOULD BE!—WONDER WHICH ONE HE IS?—NOT WORTHY OF HER—SOME POOR, STRUGGLING LAD—SHE DESERVES MORE THAN THAT—IT MUST NOT HAPPEN!
10-22
—IT WOULD BE A TERRIBLE SACRIFICE—FOR HER—LITTLE QUEEN!—A LIFE OF DEPRIVATION!—SHE DESERVES—SO MUCH MORE!—I CAN GIVE IT TO HER—I KNOW I CAN MAKE HER HAPPY—I—I WANT HER—SO MUCH—ALL I ASK IS TIME—TO RIPEN HER RESPECT, HER AFFECTION—INTO LOVE!—I CAN DO IT—I WILL!
OH—I FEEL AS IF IT'S STILL ALL A DREAM!—KEITH PAIGE, THE GREAT MAN OF BUSINESS, THE MILLIONAIRE—WANTING TO MARRY ME!—OH, THAT WILL BE SOMETHING TO ALWAYS REMEMBER!
TO THINK HE REALLY CARES THAT MUCH—FOR ME!
HE'S BEEN SO KIND—I—MUST NOT HURT HIM MORE THAN IS NECESSARY—IT WON'T BE FAIR TO HIM TO KEEP ON SEEING HIM—LETTING HIM HOPE—WHEN IT—IT'S REALLY HOPELESS FOR HIM!—I MUST TELL HIM SO!—BUT I—WILL MISS HIM!
BEWARE, PAM!—YOU ARE DEALING WITH A POWERFUL WILL, NOW!—A MAN OF INFINITE PATIENCE, AND MUCH EXPERIENCE!

BRICK BRADFORD—In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

SAY THAT AGAIN—AND SAY IT SLOW!
WE WISH TO BE YOUR ALLIES, NOT ENEMIES. AND WILL HELP YOU TAKE THE FORTRESS!

UPSWING PACED BY AVIATION, STEEL STOCKS

Leaders Climb One to More Than Three Points In Third Straight Advance.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The stock market gained momentum on the upside today in its third straight advance, with leaders climbing 1 to more than 3 points.

Steels and aviations paced the upswing, which got underway at the opening. Usual evening-up for over the week-end was well absorbed, and the list finished close to the day's best levels.

Trading was at an active pace, a last half-hour buying wave forcing the high-speed ticker behind for a time. Sales for the two hours exceeded a million shares.

Douglas Aircraft was the individual star on a better than 3 point spurt into new high ground for the year.

A number of representative issues chalked up new highs, including United Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Youngstown, Chrysler, International Nickel and Loew's.

Reo Motors also topped its 1938 peak of 3 on a fractional advance. Trading in the stock was heavy, starting with an opening sale of 10,000 shores.

Westinghouse Electric, Johns-Manville, Bethlehem and National Steel were included in the list of stocks to show extreme gains of 2 or more points.

Oils and a few scattered stocks were backward through most of the two hour session.

BOARD SELLS SCHOOL BONDS

Runs Into Snag In Seeking to Purchase Property Needed For Simpson Building.

cent will reduce the additional tax rate to slightly over 62 cents per $1,000 property valuation, as compared with the 83 cents advertised at the time the bond issue was passed Sept. 20 at a special election. That figure was based on a 4 per cent interest rate.

The net increase in the tax rate over the present figure will actually be only 22 cents per thousand dollars, since 40 cents will be taken off the rate this year by the payment of old school bonds.

The Mansfield Savings Trust National bank also bought the bonds when the present John Simpson junior high school building was erected 47 years ago.

Ten bids, ranging from 2¼ per cent to 3 per cent interest and involving 33 banks and bond companies, were submitted on the $550,000 bond issue. The Mansfield bank and the Brown Harriman company, Chicago, offered to buy the bonds for 2¼ per cent interest, but the bank agreed to pay $230 more in premiums than the Chicago firm.

One-Story Shop Building.

The shop building will be a one-story structure, 60 by 103 feet, and will be erected directly behind the Senior high school. It will provide for the manual training and automotive shop classes at the high school.

Charles Conklin, architect for the building, said it probably would be completed in January. School board members plan to use it for classrooms during construction of the new John Simpson junior high school building, a part of the building program.

Four bids, all from Mansfield firms, were submitted on the shop addition. Others in addition to Ness were: Zediker Masonry company, $22,850; Simon Small and Sons company, $23,484, and Jacob Wolfe company, $23,950.

After their long conference with Brown, board members said they would ask to have property condemned and a jury to determine the value if an agreement cannot be reached. The lot is listed on the tax duplicate at $4,120.

Offer $6,500 for Property.

Brown, who is representing his mother, Mrs. Katherine Brown, owner of the lot, was offered $6,500 for the property which is needed to provide additional space for the new John Simpson building.

Brown first asked $14,000 and then reduced his price to about $8,000.

The board also is negotiating for an adjoining lot with the Misses Bertha and Emma Reinewald, who refused $8,500 for it. The property is listed on the tax duplicate for $4,470 and is in the name of Charles Reinewald.

H. W. Arlin, board president, pointed out that only $15,000 was allotted in the building program for the purchase of property, and that an effort would be made to distribute that amount to the owners of the two lots.

Both the board's offers represent a considerable increase over the appraised value of the properties. The lots, which are 65 by 180 feet and 60 by 180 feet, include houses.

The board agreed to let Brown keep the house if he would move it.

Amplifies "Deal" Charge.

Sawyer last night in an address at Dayton amplified his charge that a "deal" had been made between his Republican opponent, John W. Bricker, and Gov. Martin L. Davey, and that old age pension lists and liquor employes were being used against him.

"On Wednesday of this week," Sawyer said, "it was revealed at Columbus that a force of clerks under order from the governor's office had reported to the division of aged. They were working nights, copying off the mailing lists of the old age pensioners.

"That list is not being copied for me. Obviously it is not being copied for the state. I would like to ask, for whom is that list of 112,000 old age pensioners being obtained?"

Sawyer continued that "the climax of this amazing and unbelievable betrayal was an attempt to organize the liquor department for Bricker."

He charged that the liquor inspectors were called into secret meetings in the districts and had been told that from now on they were to campaign for the Republican candidate.

In his original statement earlier this week Sawyer asserted that Bricker had agreed to give Davey 30 per cent of the state patronage in return for support.

In the only political meeting in Mansfield last night nearly 150 Hungarians gathered at the Sons of Herman hall on Orange street, under the auspices of the Hungarian Political and Social club.

They were addressed by Ralph C. Lutz, candidate for re-election as county representative to the general assembly; C. L. Mitchell, candidate for re-election to the board of county commissioners; John Correll, president of the Richland county Young Democratic club, and Howard Wenning, county recorder.

Richland county colored Democrats will hold a district rally at the West Fourth street headquarters Tuesday night at which Edward Brown of Washington, Educational advisor for the CCC, will speak.

Andrews Speeds Last Minute Wage-Hour Law Rulings

RADIO TALKS PLANNED TO EXPLAIN ACT

Thousands of Wage Earners To Begin Jobs Under New Regulations Monday.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The wage-hour administration rushed work today on last minute explanations of how industry should comply with the far-reaching attempt to put a floor under wages and a ceiling over hours since the days of the NRA.

Administrator Elmer F. Andrews said he hoped to announce by nightfall the kind of records employers should keep to show conformity with the new law which becomes effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday.

His aides, meanwhile, were preparing a general interpretation of the act. This will be released for publication tomorrow morning.

Plans Broadcasts.

In a further attempt to clarify the public understanding of the measure, Andrews will make a series of radio broadcasts tomorrow afternoon. He said he would attempt to answer as many as possible of the general questions asked by business men in the last few days.

Hundreds of thousands of wage-earners completed today their last week of unregulated employment. When they return to their jobs next Monday morning, a pay rate of 25 cents an hour will have become the legal minimum for all who produce goods going into interstate commerce or whose work, in the words of a recent supreme court decision, places a "burden" upon interstate commerce.

Their standard work week will have been established at 44 hours with the requirement that they be compensated at the rate of time and one-half for each hour of overtime.

It also will have become illegal to employ in mining or manufacturing industries anyone under 16 years of age or to employ in an industry officially declared to be "hazardous" any person less than 18. Children between 14 and 16 may be given limited employment in non-mining and non-manufacturing industries.

These three principal provisions of the law are complicated by a great variety of special exemptions which Andrews has attempted to clarify by official rulings.

Gets Certificate Naming Cappeller For 'Hall of Fame'

A certificate naming the late W. S. Cappeller, founder of the Mansfield News, to the Ohio Journalism Hall of Fame was presented to John W. Graham, general manager of The Mansfield News-Journal, last night at the 10th annual Hall of Fame dinner at Ohio State university. Mr. Cappeller was elected to the Hall of Fame last year.

Certificates were presented to Graham and 30 other newspaper executives from throughout the state in recognition of former publishers and editors of their papers who have been added to the Hall of Fame for outstanding work in their profession.

The names of three other outstanding Ohio journalists were added to the Hall of Fame during the dinner last night. Those honored were Elbert H. Baker, Cleveland publisher and civic leader, Abram Thomson, for 62 years editor of the Delaware Gazette and a noted horticulturist, and John T. Bourke, for 45 years a Cleveland and Columbus political writer.

When R. S. Gibson, cashier of the Mansfield Savings and Trust National bank, delivered a check for $551,275 to the Mansfield board of education last night in payment for the building program bonds which the bank had just purchased, each member of the board asked to examine the check. It wasn't because of any doubt as to its worth, but board members said they "just wanted to see what it was like to hold so much money." C. F. Ackerman, president of the bank, who was with Gibson, added that "we expect to keep all those bonds in Mansfield, too."

His friends are telling this one on a Mansfield policeman and they claim it's true. Seeing a car parked in the edge of a safety zone, the officer waited around until the owner returned. "Where are you from?" He asked. "Pittsburgh," was the motorist's reply. "Then what are you doing with Pennsylvania licenses on your car?" the officer snapped back.

Two old Mansfielders who spent many years here before going to Norwalk—several years ago, are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary today in that city. They are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Farrell. Mrs. Farrell was the former Lena Paule of Mansfield. He was one of the first chauffeurs in Mansfield, having served J. A. Rigby in the days when the White Steamer was the smart car and the occupants wore goggles, veils and gauntlets for motoring. He began work as chauffeur in 1906 when "you frequently started out in an auto but often came back by horse and buggy." The Farrells now reside at 88 South Linwood avenue, Norwalk.

It took a thief more than three months to make up his or her mind that knitting isn't as easy as it looks. Last July someone stole a partially knitted sweater, needles and yarn out of a car belonging to Mrs. William Kopcial, Glessner avenue. There was a note in this column to the effect that if it were returned no questions would be asked. But there was no response. Yesterday when Mrs. Kopcial entered her office in the Dickson building, there was a package beside the door. It was the missing sweater and needles. Some one had tried on several occasions, it was apparent, to "knit one, purl two," but had finally given it up as a bad job.

The Cleveland section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers today had authorized the formation of a Mansfield division of the national institute.

Permission for the organization was granted at the request of 25 members in Mansfield Officers will be elected and a program of activities will be outlined at a meeting to be held soon in Mansfield.

Approximately 100 members of the institute, including 40 from Cleveland attended a meeting Thursday night in the Westinghouse auditorium.

Speakers were J. T. Lusignan, jr., executive engineer of the Ohio Brass company; Dr Charles J. Miller, of the Ohio Brass company, and Paul Lee, engineer at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Preceding the meeting, members of the institute visited the Mansfield reformatory and the enameling department at the Westinghouse plant.

SCANDAL IN WPA

73 Indicted, Leaders Resign In New Mexico.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(INS)—Works Progress Administration activity in New Mexico was at a virtual standstill today as WPA leaders resigned their positions following indictment by federal grand jury of 73 persons, many of them prominent, on charges of alleged corruption and graft.

Many others stood in fear of further indictments, it was hinted by U. S. District Attorney Everett Granham.

BULKLEY, TAFT CLASH ON FUND

'Old Stuff,' Senator Declares Of Charge Contributions Violated U. S. Act.

ously that Taft's campaign expenditures represented a "threat to democracy."

Both candidates were visibly disturbed by the unruly crowd and they agreed that the number of spectators should be limited hereafter. "It's a mean situation," observed Bulkley, but he and Taft shared the view that the face-to-face verbal tilts were politically valuable if the audiences could be controlled.

Bulkley voiced strong approval of the government's program of spending to aid recovery, which Taft termed a "policy of suicide."

"After the utter failure of the first spending program, I cannot but suspect that the new policy, which Senator Bulkley so warmly approves, is designed primarily to promote a little artificial stimulation of business about Nov. 8, 1938," Taft said.

"My opponent seems to be in doubt about whether I support the spending program to aid business and employment," Senator Bulkley declared in his rebuttal. "I support it fully and it will not stop after Nov. 8."

Discussing the "truth about federal finances," Bulkley cited figures to show that if proper reductions were made for "cash in the treasury, repayable advances to business and agriculture" and the discharge of government relief obligations, the gross public debt increase since March, 1933, could be reduced from $17,400,000,000 to $9,100,000,000.

Bulkley described the $9,100,000,000 balance as the New Deal's contribution to public works projects to relieve unemployment and he said, "if they are worth what they have cost we have more than accounted for all the increase in the national debt since the beginning of the Roosevelt administration.

"The New Deal administration has never balanced the budget, and so far as we can see, it never will," Taft replied.

900 SEEKING STATE JOBS WILL TAKE CIVIL SERVICE TESTS HERE

The first contingent of a small army of job seekers will converge on Mansfield Tuesday for civil service examinations for new posts in the state unemployment compensation commission.

Mansfield, designated by the state civil service commission as one of the 15 examinations centers throughout Ohio, will be host to 900 of the 37,500 applicants seeking positions with the unemployment commission.

Examinations will be conducted at the American Legion Home on Park avenue west simultaneously with 14 other cities in the state. They will continue through Friday of next week and will be resumed Nov. 1 and continue through Nov. 3.

The tests, financed by a $40,000 Social Security grant were scheduled primarily to provide for 4,000 new employes for the unemployment compensation commission, but have been extended to include other state positions.

Payment of unemployment insurance awards in Ohio starts Jan. 1, 1939, necessitating the creation of a staff of employes by that date, civil service officials said.

Positions to be filled between Nov. 1 and July 1, 1939, range from clerical jobs paying $70 a month to executive posts with a $350 per month salary.

The examinations are being held to prepare an eligibility list from which personnel will be selected to maintain the 58 district offices which will be set up throughout the state as provided by the recent enactment of the Unemployment Benefit act.

40 YEARS OLD

Anniversary of Sand Ridge Church to Be Observed.

LOUDONVILLE — Former pastors of the Sand Ridge Lutheran church, south of here, will speak Sunday at the 40th anniversary of the founding of the church.

Homecoming ceremonies will be held throughout the day and a picnic dinner will be served at noon.

In the morning the community choir will sing at church services, while a special program has been scheduled for the afternoon.

One of the most picturesque rural churches in this section of Ohio, the Sand Ridge church is built on a hill, affording a view of the countryside for miles around.

A group of younger members of the congregation a few years ago attempted to change the church to the Baptist denomination because a Baptist minister had conducted a series of revival meetings in the community and obtained a number of converts. The older Lutheran members protested the change, however, and the English Lutheran title was retained.

RHEA JONES, 44, TAKEN BY DEATH

Native of City Succumbs After Brief Illness; Rites Monday.

Miss Rhea Jones, 44, who resided two miles east of the city on the Wooster road, died in the General hospital Friday after a brief illness.

Born in Mansfield, Dec. 10, 1894, Miss Jones spent her entire life in this vicinity. She graduated from Mansfield high school and later attended Ohio Northern.

Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Callie Jones, with whom she made her home, and a sister, Mrs. Hazel Domka of Wooster road.

The body was removed to the home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday, in charge of the Apostolic Christian church, with burial in the Lantz cemetery.

DRY-ERA KILLER FIRES SIX SHOTS AT EX-GANGSTER

Sweetheart Witnesses Slaying As Victim Steps From Auto On Chicago Street.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — An assassin shot and killed Bert Delaney, 59, former superintendent of Al Capone's $20,000,000 bootleg brewing industry during prohibition, as he stepped out of his automobile last night. It was the 11th gang slaying in Chicago in four months.

Police believed it had been motivated either by racketeer-union or gangland troubles. It bore the touch of the professional dry-era killer.

Delaney's sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth McAvoy, and her brother-in-law, Carl White, witnessed the slaying. They had driven up to Mrs. McAvay's apartment with Delaney. They got out of the automobile and went to the building entrance.

Fires Six Times.

As they stood there, waiting for Delaney, the killer crept up behind him and fired three shots. Then, as Delaney lay on the sidewalk, the gunman pumped three more bullets into his back, fled down the street and jumped into an automobile driven by an accomplice.

Mrs. McAvoy told police she and Delaney had been sweethearts for seven years and that, until repeal, he had been well supplied with money. Neither she nor White could describe the killer. Both said they knew of no motive for the slaying.

Delaney was one of the men behind the Capone scene. Although important in the gang chief's enterprises, he seldom figured prominently in the news.

He was one of 78 men indicted with Capone in a government prohibition conspiracy case against the Capone syndicate. The case fell through with the end of prohibition.

STRICKEN AT 71

Miss Wheelock Had Resided In Mansfield 40 Years.

Miss Annie Wheelock, 71, of 117½ West Third street, died at the home today after a brief illness.

Born in New York state, May 15, 1867, Miss Wheelock came to this city 40 years ago. A member of the Park Avenue Baptist church, she was active in primary work in the Sunday school.

Miss Wheelock was associated with the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in Mansfield for 27 years. Surviving are several nieces and nephews, including Mrs. Charles Kirsch of Sturges, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church at 3:30 p. m. Monday with Rev. Hayes M. Braker officiating. Burial will be in Fredonia, N. Y. The body will remain at the Finefrock funeral home until 1 p. m. Monday.

400 AT BUSHNELL PARTY

About 400 persons attended a carnival and Halloween party last night at the Bushnell school building sponsored by the Bushnell School Men's club. Included among the entertainment was an amateur minstrel staged by Bert Weaver, Howard Sheldon, Raymond Dent, Arthur Jones, R. H. McGregor and Russell Weaver, and several piano selections by Wanda Hess. Guy E. Ferguson was general chairman in charge of the event.

Another Political Giggle Right At Home; Peace at Any Price Proves Danger

—By JANE WILLIAMS

NINETY-FIVE per cent of the voters who go to the polls Nov. 8, won't understand what the proposed state constitutional amendment is all about. The five per cent who do understand it will be members of the bar and possibly their families.

Which is also true of the regular ballot for the election of the state judiciary. How many voters ever know the nominees for judicial positions? A Mansfield attorney told me that at election time as many as 50 persons have called him to ask whom they should vote for on the judicial ticket. "Which means," he said, "that I may have as many as 51 votes."

So that the privilege of popular vote is of little or no advantage in so far as the selection of judges is concerned.

The proposed amendment provides for the appointment of judges for the Supreme court and appellate courts; judges of the lower courts may be appointed or elected—it's optional with the voters of the county. The higher court judges would be appointed by the governor, with the senate confirming or rejecting the appointment. The governor would have to make his appointment from a list submitted by a judicial council which would be made up of the Chief Justice of state's Supreme court, four judges and three attorneys.

* * *

THERE are other details of the proposed change in the constitution, but the gist of it is that judges would be selected by a council of men who know them rather than, as at present, by voters who do not know them.

The American Bar Association has endorsed it, and practically every county association in the state has followed. That doesn't mean however, that all attorneys are for it. The Richland County Bar association approved it—correct me if I'm wrong, gentlemen—by a vote of 11 for as compared with a vote of nine against it. And there are both conservatives and "liberals" up on both sides.

Great Britain and Canada select their judges by the appointive method, and it is pretty generally conceded that British courts are superior to American.

It's a constitutional amendment and not to be lightly voted upon. Get both sides of the proposal before you place your X before the "Yes" or "No."

PARDON me for having giggled last week at California's complex political picture. It was merely another case of the kettle and the pot. I had forgotten that here in the 17th congressional district of Ohio we have a situation just as funny. We have the amusing spectacle of good old conventional Republicans, who bewail the mad spending and free-handed gratuities of the New Deal, sponsoring a man for the national congress who advocates a large pension for every person over 60 years of age.

If you want to cast a really intelligent vote this year, walk into the voting booth blindfolded, make a cross on the ballot wherever your pencil point happens to land, and walk out again without removing the blindfold. Then your conscience won't hurt you regardless of who's elected.

IF ADVOCATES of a strong national defense needed a clinching argument for the pacifists who believed that money spent for armaments had much better be spent for universities, they have it now.

Because it must be apparent now to the most rabid pacifist that "peace at any price" is a dangerous fallacy and that universities are feeble and futile if you do not have sufficient armaments to protect them and the civilization for which they stand.

Human nature being what it is, it takes force as well as brains to defend our civilization. Only Utopians believe otherwise.

WHEN, and if, you are inclined to berate the intolerance and insolence of citizens of foreign countries you might hold the mirror up to ourselves by scanning the newspapers of 20 years ago. . . .

The Mansfield News of Oct. 21, 1918 carried the death of a man in Akron who had refused to subscribe to the Fourth Liberty Loan. . . . Three men stopped him as he drove along the country road. One held his horse's head and the other two jumped up on the wagon, grabbed his arm and shoved a pencil into his hand. When he resisted, and struck at one of the men, they hit him over the head with a brick, and he died a few minutes later. Officials pronounced his death due to a "fit of anger" and the men were publicly lauded for their "patriotism." The headlines in The News reflected the spirit of the incident. They were: "TIGHTWAD KEPT HIS MONEY—He Has Gone Without Pockets In His Shroud."

Patriotism? If that's it then I have the word confused with "barbarism."

FAIR ENOUGH!

Open Season on Creepers And One-handed Drivers Gives Automobilists Fun

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I forgot to tell you about the hunting last Sunday, the first day of legal shooting of Sunday drivers.

After all these years of protection, the game was plentiful along practically all the roads, and the highway police interfered only to settle disputes, such as the time I got a fine buck in the act of creeping at the head of a long line of cars on a narrow, winding road, and another hunter claimed him.

It was a close decision, and I couldn't blame the other sportsman for wanting credit for the kill, considering that we fired almost simultaneously, but the trooper decided that the honor belonged to me, and the other claimant very courteously offered his hand and his congratulations, saying: "I had had my eye on that creeper for years, and I suppose I was overanxious.

"He wrecked a friend of mine on a curve near here one Sunday several years ago. My friend was trying to go somewhere on an important errand, and this creeper was poking along, blocking traffic with at least 20 cars behind him, all leap-frogging and taking desperate chances against the oncoming traffic in the effort to get free of him.

"So, naturally, you see, I figured him to be my creeper, for I had been watching him many Sundays since then, always longing for the day when they would lift the law. However, the pleasure is almost as great as though I had got him myself."

* * *

Along toward noon there came a fine specimen, steering with his right hand and with his left hand out the window, holding into the roof of his car.

This one was not a creeper but a non-signaler, and I blew him through when he came to a turn-off and swung far over to the left side of the road to make a right-hand turn, to lazy to use his brake and give a signal. As he swung left I naturally thought that he was turning left and started to pass on his right, so when he turned right without dropping speed he forced me toward the ditch.

It was then that I let him have it, and a trooper who came up a minute later said, admiringly: "You ought to enter him for the prize. I saw it all, and he is one of the finest specimens of that particular type of pest that I ever saw."

Another hunter got an interesting specimen, a buck riding along, wabbling all over a busy highway at about 20 miles an hour, with his right arm around a doe, who was almost in his lap.

* * *

The one who got him was in an oncoming car in the other lane. He sized up the situation in a quick glimpse and knocked off the game right under the very eyes of those who were edging along in pursuit, but there was no rancor whatever.

They all got out and congratulated the lucky sportsman. The spirit of the hunters was magnificent throughout.

There were a few speeders in the bag, but not many, for the game around here consists more of creepers on the narrow roads, one-handers and non-signalers.

There has been some protest over the "slaughter," as some people call it, but that was all settled in advance when it was pointed out that such drivers themselves cause terrible slaughter on the highway all year long.
